Iron From Electricity
Two Divorces, No More?
For Swivel Chair Experts
Coming, $25 a Day

By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1926, by Star Co.)

IN THIS industrial age, an announcement by the engineering foundation that iron may be produced from ore by electricity is ten thousand times more important than any news about art, literature or politics.

Melting ore and making iron with fire may soon be part of the primitive past, if engineers are not mistaken.

Iron produced electrically would be less subject to rust, and that alone would prevent an annual loss of 30,000,000 tons of steel that goes to waste through corrosion.

THE PACIFIC COAST is interested in this. No more coal mines or coal hauling neces-

FUNERAL AT HIS HOME IN WEST NEWTON AT 2 O'CLOCK THURSDAY

John W. Weeks, Boston financier, former Secretary of War under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, and for many years an outstanding figure in the political affairs of Massachusetts and the nation, died today at his Summer home in Lancaster, N. H.

Funeral services will be held at the home of his son, Sinclair in West Newton and the body will be temporarily placed in a vault from which it will later be transferred to Washington for the interment in Arlington National Cemetery.

Before his retirement from the Cabinet, Secretary Weeks went to Arlington and personally chose the location of his grave on a grassy knoll, but he released the site afterwards because the family of William Jennings Bryan desired that location

The plans of the Weeks family were wired to the War Department and from there transmitted to other departments of the national government, most of which will be represented at the West Newton service.

The approach of death was foreseen by the physician who gathered the family at the bedside for the hours of silent vigil that preceded the end. Those who watched at the bedside were Mrs. Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks of Newton, son and daughter-in-law of the former Cabinet officer, and Mr. and Mrs. John Washington Davidge of Washington, his daughter and son-in-law.

Although he had been ailing with serious stomach trouble for more than a year, and had undergone operations at Phillips House of Massachusetts General Hospital, where he lay at death's door for days, the former secretary in remarkable rallies fought off the end. The final illness did not set in until last Wednesday ,and on Saturday he sank into unconsciousness.

From the time he was born on

12 SAILORS JUMP SHIP, NINE ARE RECAPTURED

Gloucester, July 12 (A.P.)—Twelve sailors from the German steamship Mimi, encouraged by the success of six others, who made their way to the shore a week ago, and have not been apprehended, yesterday tried to jump ship as it lay at the Gorton Pew dock here, but six were recaptured soon afterward and three were taken this morning in Stage Fort Park. They are held for the immigration authorities. The other three are uncaught.

PONZI TREATY PLEA FALLS ON DEAF EARS

Washington, July 12 (I.N.S.).—A protest by Texas constituents of Senator Morris Sheppard (D.), against the method by which Charles Ponzi, wanted in Florida for alleged land frauds, was lured from a steamship in New Orleans fell on deaf ears at the State Department today.

The statement, transmitted by Senator Sheppard, charged violation of the American-Italian treaty, since Ponzi was a member of the crew of an Italian steamship

Secretary Kellogg said any such protest would have to come from the Italian Ambassador, who has shown no indication of intention to intervene in the matter.

Blast Hurls Man, Ablaze, Off Boat

Gasoline, exploding today as it was being loaded into the 40-foot launch Lucas II., owned by the Standard Oil Company, at the Socony plant in Chelsea street, East Boston, badly burned one man and nearly drowned him.

A second man, who was manipulating the pump away from the launch, escaped injury in the blowup that endangered between forty and fifty huge gasoline tanks strung along the docks.

In extinguishing the blaze on the [illegible] the fireboat, Engine 47, filled the launch with water and sank it.

Eldridge Goodwin was on the launch while 500 gallons of gasoline were being pumped into the tanks by R. C. Robinson on the dock.

In some manner unexplained the fumes ignited, there was a roaring blast and the boat was enveloped in flames.

Goodwin, with his clothing afire, was hurled from the launch into the water and was on the verge of drowning when Standard Oil Co. employes dove in and hauled him out, suffering from immersion as well as shock and burns.

He was taken to the East Boston Relief Hospital.

A fire alarm brought several pieces of land apparatus with the fireboat and the flames were speedily quenched without any spread.

The launch was damaged by fire and its sinking to the extent of $5,000.

FOUR GET YEAR IN JAIL FOR ATTACKING OFFICER

Four men charged with assault and battery on Patrolman John Sullivan of the Athens street station were found guilty today in South Boston District Court and each sentenced to a year in the House of Correction. They appealed and were held in $1,000 bail each.

The men are: Patrick Sullivan, of B street, South Boston; James McDonough, of the South End; William McDonough, Norwell street, Dorchester, and his brother, Myles McDonough, of Vine avenue, Roxbury. Patrolman Sullivan, it is alleged, was set upon by a group of men on the Dover street bridge on June 24.

Shortly before the arraignment of the quartet, William J. McDonough and William Collins of West Fifth street, South Boston, were found guilty of rescuing a prisoner on May 9. Judge William J. Day offered to place the cases on file. Collins accepted, but McDonough, through his attorney, Senator John W. McCormick, decided to apeal. In view of this decision, the court imposed a sentence of six months.

Both McDonough and Collins were beaten in the alleged encounter.

65 CENT GAS RATE FOR HOME HEATING

A rate of 65 cents a thousand cubic feet is set by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company for home heating purposes in a schedule filed today with the Public Utilities Commission.

The new rate follows the repeal of the so-called "sliding scale" act, under which the rate of dividends of the company was dependent for years on the price of gas charged consumers.

The existing rate of $1.20 a thousand cubic feet for illumination and cooking, it is understood, will continue to remain in force.

In connection with the 65-cent rate, the company proposes a discount of 5 cents per thousand for payments made within ten days from the date of the bills. A service charge, an annual one, is also imposed at the rate of 17½ cents for each square foot of installed hot water radiation; 27½ cents for each square foot of installed steam radiation; 17½ cents for each square inch of installed warm air pipes from furnace, and 17 cents for each square foot of installed steam radiation in office buildings.

SECOND DESTROYER JOINS HUB DRY FLEET

Another United States destroyer, the Cunningham, flagship of the Coast Guard fleet, arrived today to join Boston's rum patrol flotilla, making two destroyers now on duty here, while three more are scheduled to arrive within a few days.

With five of the greyhounds cruising in and out of this port, centering their activities 12 miles off the outer rim of Cape Cod, the Coast Guard patrol here will bristle with more trouble for the rum ships.

The tightening of the net guarding the port has already sent all but two of the liquor schooners away from Rum Row, according to wireless messages received from the patrol boats off the Cape. These two are suspected of effecting landings of liquor by means of speed boats from the shore.

'THEY DIED HEROES' WILBUR AT SCENE

Dover, N. J., July 12.—Seventeen bodies were recovered from the ruins in the naval arsenal reservation at Denmark today as looters began ransacking the debris.

Explosions continue to rock the countryside as the flames spread on the third day of the disaster. Bodies are being taken to the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The known dead will number twenty, it is believed, and the damage thus far done is placed at more than $100,000,000.

The list of injured probably will reach hundreds, preliminary estimates indicate.

After two and a half hours in the danger zone under shell fire, Secretary of the Navy, Wilbur, sought the safety zone and wired orders that 200 more marines be sent to Dequmark fro mQuantico, Va.

The men who died in the explosion lost their lives because they ran to fight fire instead of fleeing to safety, Secretary Wilbur said.

"The position of every man's body indicated that he was running back to danger in response to the fire call," he said. "Had they gone the other way they might have saved their lives."

Wilbur announced he would appoint a board of inquiry to decide whether the arsenal should be rebuilt or moved to a les populous section. He said there seemed no doubt the explosions was started by lightning.

NEW BLAST HALTS WORK.

The search for bodies was halted temporarily at 3:30 o'clock after an especailly heavy explosion occurred near the arsenal. Although the Picatinny army arsenal is regarded as fairly safe, it was admitted that should a high-powered projectile hit a magazine it probably would explode thousands of tons of TNT.

Three hundred marines and soldiers searching through safer parts of the shell-torn No Man's Land as continued explosions sent projectiles screaming over their heads, brought out the bodies.

In spite of the peril of bursting shells and the vigilance of military and police, snoopers and thieves were risking their lives to obtain loot from the stricken area.

An ordnance captain reported cash, clothing and medals had been stolen from his quarters.

Danger to which the searching party is open was dramatically shown when Major Kimberlin of the State police and Colonel Ford of Governor's Island, driving through the shell-infested hills, narrowly escaped death as a five-inch steel-jacketed shell landed in front of their car.

In the Picatinny arsenal, Major Kimberlin said, there is $40,000,000 worth of high-powered munitions, which may yet be set off by a flying shell or sparks.

A telegram to the Red Cross said the Morristown, N. J., Chapter housed and fed more than 400 refugees.

Instructions have been issued for the navy to co-operate immediately in relieving families and workmen at the naval stations.

The searching parties entered the ammunition depot with all the precautions of a war-time patrol going over the top. The men were sepa-

TWO LEAP FROM AUTO AS ENGINE LOOMS

Two Boston men escaped by jumping for their lives and a third suffered severe body bruises today when their automobile plunged down a steep grade in Quincy avenue, Quincy, and crashed into a switching engine.

Joseph M. Stock of Robinwood street, Jamaica Plain, driver of the car, was injured but refused to be taken to a hospital. James Ward of Lee street, Jamaica Plain, and James Lawson of Boston were shaken up.

The engine, owned by the Fore River Shipyards, was halted across Quincy avenue on a spur track. Stock tried unsuccessfully to stop his car, but the breaks failed to work, according to the police. While Ward and Lawson leaped out, Stock braced himself behind the wheel.

NICHOLS' SNOW ORDER CALLED 'HIJACKING'

Attempt of City Council members to block a vote on Mayor Nichols' $400,000 snow removal order today brought a vitriolic attack by Dowling of Brighton and Gilbody of Dorchester. Unless acted upon by the council, the order becomes effective July 23. Gilbody, Democrat, called the attempt "the rawest piece of political hijacking done in the United States." Dowling, Republican, referred to the order as "this graft thing."

SHELLS BURST AS MUNITIONS DUMPS KEEP ON BURNING AFTER EXPLOSION AT NAVAL ARSENAL. OTHER PHOTOGRAPHS ON PAGES SIX AND SEVEN

Every few minutes another detonation occurs, keeping the searchers for bodies at bay in the devastated area at Lake Denmark, N. J. As the shells crash through the thirty storehouses, other explosions and fires follow. This is one of the first photographs actually taken from airplane inside the arsenal grounds. It presents a torn and trench-gashed terrain similar to France's No Man's Land during the World War. This photo was rushed to Boston by plane. (I.N.R.).

SEARCH FOR BODIES IN RUINED ARSENAL STARTS AS SHELLS BURST ANEW

ated into small groups, and squirmed on their stomachs over the torn ground and through shell holes, dragging their stretchers and medical supplies after them.

Meanwhile the whiz-bangs whistled by and exploded beyond, giving the men all the sensations, and the dangers too, of real warfare. The dead were brought out on stretchers and loaded into ambulances to be taken to the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

The ammunition dump, itself, is a smouldering furnace of twisted and mangled steel and brick, and the great forested area which surrounded it has been wiped out, leaving a naked expanse of blackened hillside without a trace of vegetation.

Among the persons first listed as missing who have been located are Lieutenant Commander Brown of Poughkeepsie, and Captain B. H. Clark of Little Rock, Ark.

ADDED TO WOUNDED.

The names of two marines and a pharmacist's mate were officially added to the list of wounded. They are:

Private Labbie N. Kirks, Jr., McGregor, Tex.; Private Delbert L. Brunbridge, Wichita, Kan.; Pharmacist's Mate, first class, Donald Sanborn Prescott, mother, Mrs. Bessie E. Morrill, North Reading, Mass.

According to navy records the following civilian employes who lived on the Lake Denmark reservation, have not yet been accounted for: Anthony J. Cook, fireman; Pearce Ryan, ordnance man; John J. Sexton, chauffeur; Henry D. Wadhams, chief clerk.

Among the eighteen killed are:

LIEUTENANT GEORGE W. BOTT, U. S. A., of Richmond, Va., caught when a magazine collapsed. Captain Holmes and Captain Trump, of the Picatinny staff, recovered his body.

MRS. FRANCES FEELEY, of Brooklyn, caught by falling timbers while visiting the army station. Her skull was fractured, and she died in the Dover hospital. John Feeley, her husband, and a four-year-old daughter were injured.

A check-up of injured showed that in addition to the great number of unidentified persons who were treated for minor hurts there were still 64 in hospitals, and 110 others had been sufficiently injured to require hospital treatment.

NEAR BUILDING C-31.

The dead were all found in the vicinity of an administration building known as "C-31." The first body discovered lay on the road, with a shattered telephone pole across the head. The rest lay near a demolished shack.

No formal attempt was made to identify the dead on the scene of the disaster, although some were recognized by former comrades. Many of the bodies were burned beyond casual recognition.

Shortly after the searching party got under way the explosions were coming at the rate of one every five or ten minutes. One blast knocked a marine unconscious and several of his companions turned complete somersaults.

The torn roads leading from the devastated towns to Morristown were crowded with long lines of women and children being taken to shelter. The scene brought to mind the roads of war-riven Belgium as the families of scores of miners and small farmers made their way to safety, a few belongings carried in hurriedly gathered bundles.

In Morristown the Red Cross and various other organizations cared for the refugees, providing them with food and beds, and supplying all available news to members of families which had become separated.

Plan New Policy for Arsenals to End Danger

New York, July 12 (A.P.).—A new policy in planning government arsenals is likely as the result of the disaster at Lake Denmark, N. J. In the opinion of Secretary of War Davis after making a personal inspection of the explosion area.

"The old system of grouping buildings filled with explosives close together is too dangerous," he said today. "Buildings should be far enough apart, so if one is set off it will not explode the others."

Wounded, Swims for Boat to Aid Others

Passaic, N. J., July 12 (A.P.).—The story of a wounded marine corporal, swimming half a mile across Lake Denmark and rowing back in a boat to rescue half a dozen comrades, who sought shelter in a small cave following the first explosions at the naval arsenal, was told here by a survivor.

Corporal of Marines Thomas Mullarkey, at the time of the first explosions acting sergeant of the guard, said after the order to flee had been given he and a group of other marines, some injured, ran to the edge of Lake Denmark, where they found temporary protection in a small cave.

Then Corporal Marvin Lewis, though wounded, volunteered to swim across the lake to get a boat. He accomplished the feat and the marines rowed back across the lake and fled from the danger zone.

Jamaica Plain Marine at Disaster Scene Safe

Anxious to relieve his family from worry, one marine at the Dover, N. J., munitions depot, Daniel Huntley, caused a flurry of excitement at his home, No. 5 Dresden street, Jamaica Plain, by sending a telegram: "O. K. at Dover, N. J."

While his mother, Mrs. Minnie Huntley, was wondering what had happened, the newspapers arrived at the home with the story of the explosion.

'It Was a Night in Hell!' Says Wife in Blast

Glen Ridge, N. J., July 12 (Universal).—The miraculous escape of Mrs. Dora Dowling, wife of Captain Otto G. Dowling, commandant of the shattered Lake Denmark arsenal, is a story of experiences rivalling those of fleeing refugees in war-stricken France.

Mrs. Dowling still wore the gingham dress given her after her eight-mile run through the woods, during which her lace dinner frock was torn to shreds.

Her arms were covered with scratches and bruises, a livid mark showed on her face where she was knocked to the ground by the force of the explosions.

Mrs. Dowling said:

"We all went through hell last night. That is the only word that adequately describes it. It will be many years before I can begin to forget the horrible experience.

"I was sitting with Captain Dowling in the sun parlor of our home watching the storm. Suddenly a livid streak of lightning flashed zigzag down the sky. He said to me:

"'Wasn't that a wicked one?'

"A few minutes later the phone rang. I answered it and an orderly said there was a fire at the west gate.

KNOCKED DOWN BY CRASH.

"When I told him, he cried, 'Oh, my God'' seized his raincoat and was off down the hill in his automobile in a flash. I went to the back window when the first explosion came. It broke every back window in the house, shook the plaster from the walls, knocked everything over and threw me to the floor. I staggered down stairs, intending to go after Otto.

"Then the second explosion came, and as I went through the front door the roof came crashing in. The doors were torn from their hinges and I narrowly escaped being crushed beneath them.

MOUNTAINS OF FLAME.

"I rushed into the road, and as I turned in the direction of the magazine, I saw what looked like a mountain of fire rolling toward me. I then turned in the direction of Denmark, and there, too, was a horrible leaping mountain of flames. There were deafening reports, and I became frantic.

"Behind our house is a heavy wood, and I decided to go in there, hoping that the wet trees would save me from being burned alive. I saw others dashing through the woods and joined them.

"With his lip torn half off and bleeding over his entire face, a young pharmacist named Bernard Shackman took me by the arm and helped me to turn. Without him I could never have made it."

Army Loss at Dover Put at $1,000,000

Washington, July 12 (I.N.S.).—The Army suffered $1,000,000 damages in the Dover, N. J., arsenal disaster, Secretary of War Davis estimated today.

The first estimate of $1,500,000 made by him and Major General T. V. Williams, he said, was too high. He will name a board of officers soon to fix the damages definitely.

Davis announced that no action can be taken by the War Department to move the arsenal until Congress makes appropriations and authorizations.

Secretary Wilbur on Way to Lake Denmark

Washington, July 12 (A.P.).—Secretary Wilbur, Rear Admiral E. A. Campbell, Judge Advocate General, and Rear Admiral C. C. Bloch, chief of ordnance of the navy, are en route to Lake Denmark, N. J., scene of the naval arsenal explosion.

The Secretary, who was at Newport, R. I., notified the department that he would go to New York by destroyer and would proceed to Lake Denmark by automobile.

PHONE HEROES BRAVE BLAST

Dover, N. J., July 12—The quiet heroism of two telephone wire men remains cut in bold relief in the horror and confusion on Saturday night.

Less than an hour after the United States Arsenal at Lake Denmark had exploded with panic in its wake, Clayton Plumstead and Henry Hahn, wire men at Dover, had set up an emergency station at Piccatinny, while less than a quarter of a mile away from the magazine storehouses ten and twelve-inch shells exploded and fell thundering down the mountainside to Piccatinny. Many of the injured and the panic-stricken at Piccatinny had not yet found chance to escape.

Plumstead and Hahn created an emergency station by tapping the wires for the Arsenal and relayed the first authentic information of the extent of the devastation to the anxious town of Dover.

It was through their efforts that Brig.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum, former chief of the staff in the A. E. F., was acquainted with the destitution and the impending menace of the huge army arsenal at Piccatinny, with his consequent mobilization of 155 men from the 16th infantry battalian at Governor's Island to send to Piccatinny.

The heroism of these two men was supplemented by the efforts of the telephone force at the Rockaway office, where six girls stuck to their posts at the heavy shell explosions rocked the town.

Villages Wrecked for Thirty Miles Around

Paterson, N. J., July 12 (A.P.).—Villages and towns within thirty miles of Picatinny arsenal tonight show signs of the damage caused by last night's explosion.

Hundreds of windows were broken at Butler. Two-foot pieces of timber fell at Oakland.

Policemen are guarding an unexploded shell which fell in the main street at Bloomingdale.

Windows in stores and houses at Pompton Lakes were broken. Haskell felt the force of the explosion and windows were broken in the cap works of the Du Pont powder works.

REFUGEES RETURN TO RUINS FOR PETS AND VALUABLES

Rockaway, N. J., July 12 (A.P.).—Refugees from the shell-rocked area surrounding the burning navy ammunition depot at Lake Denmark returned today to find their homes a war-torn No Man's Land.

The explosion which destroyed the arsenal and rained death on nearby towns, in two days of fiery bombardment, has wiped out an entire town, and made of a peaceful mining valley a devastated area as desolate as that of the Argonne.

Ten square miles about the arsenal is an evacuated area, its roads guarded with sentries, their bayonets fixed, rifles loaded.

Refugees creeping back to their ruined homes to search for their treasures, to find pet animals, to reclaim whatever of their possessions that have been saved, are allowed to pass.

Ambulances of the Red Cross, on another search, and moving kitchens of the army are other traffic allowed in the grim confines.

OUTPOSTS OF WAR SECTION.

Rockaway and Dover, larger towns at the foot of the valley at whose head the arsenal burns, have suffered their desolation. Shattered windows along the streets, some now boarded up by the inhabitants; wrecked walls, and crowded hospitals and relief stations make of these town the outposts of the war section.

As one advances up the valley, he sees that the destruction grows steadily worse. Dover, about two miles south, over the brow of the hill from the burning arsenal, is a dramatic Verdun. None of the homes of its meagre mining population has escaped. Floors caved in and dropped to the cellar, window after window shattered, walls wrecked and tilted dwellings mark the path of exploding shells.

Brigadier-General Drum after an inspection last night ordered the town evacuated.

This morning the inhabitants of the town, mining folk, owners of little houses, small gardens and sometimes an animal or two, began to creep back to look through their ruins. An old woman came back on a search for her cow. Many sought dogs or cats or chickens.

War-time heroism of the animal kingdom recorded itself in such little incidents as the finding of a shepherd dog, within the shell-studded reservation, standing watch over his dead mate.

While Red Cross workers in Morristown and Dover labored at the work of sorting the children of families scattered many miles, sometimes separated in the frenzied flight from the erupting arsenal, victims of shell-shock presented one of the saddest spectacles of the hospitals and relief stations. Persons otherwise unhurt were dazed into mental incoherence, and wandered about lost until rescuers took them in hand.

The Red Cross estimated today that from 900 to 1,000 refugees were being cared for. Most of the scattered families were reunited by this morning, they said, but in two cases frantic husbands have as yet been unable to find their wives, parted from them in the struggle of escape.

Captain Dowling Former Melrose Boy

Captain Otto C. Dowling, hero of the naval ammunition depot catastrophe at Lake Denmark, N. J., who suffered injuries that may cost his eyesight, was a former Greater Boston man. He is in a hospital, his eyes seared by the flames that baffled his heroic attempt to save the war plant.

Captain Dowling's fortitude was characterized as a typical trait by Charles J. Wing of No. 680 Main street, Melrose, a former schoolmate. He knew Captain Dowling as a boy in Melrose, where the latter lived until he entered the Naval Academy.

After vainly attempting to fight the flames, Captain Dowling was carried with other victims to the navy hospital at Brooklyn.

Even as a boy, he displayed remarkable persistence and resoluteness, according to his former schoolmate. After graduating from Melrose public schools he entered Anapolis Naval Academy on the recommendation of Congressman William E. Barrett.

TRIO SLAIN BY THUGS IN CICERO

Chicago Suburb Scene of Another Outrage; Girl Is Victim

Chicago, July 12 (A.P.).—Cicero, scene of the spectacular McSwiggen party slaying, counted three more killings today, apparently prompted by a desire of hold-up men to obtain automobiles for marauding expeditions.

WITHIN A BLOCK.

A taxicab chauffeur, who protested against surrendering his car to a pair of robbers, was mortally wounded, stripped of his uniform and thrown from his machine, while less than a block away, a young man and young woman, sitting in a car in front of the latter's home, were slain when they remonstrated against giving up their automobile.

The police are holding Thomas McWain, twenty-four, from whom they obtained a statement implicating himself and a man known to them only as "Curly." McWain said he and Curly had hired the cab to go to Cicero, and that they shot the chauffeur, Ludwig Rose, to obtain his car. Shortly afterwards they spied an automobile occupied by Fred Hein, twenty-six, and Miss Marie Blang, twenty-three, and demanded surrender of the machine. When Hein protested, both he and Miss Blang were shot to death.

HEARD OTHER SHOTS.

Rose was found lying alongside the road and was taken to the county hospital, where he died of a bullet wound in his back. His shouts had attracted a passerby, who notified Cicero police. While still conscious, Rose told them he had heard six or seven shots shortly after his assailants drove away. The police started search and found the bodies of Hein and Miss Blang nearby.

Wayne, described as "floater" from the Madison street districts, was captured after an exciting police chase when the stolen taxicab he was driving crashed through railroad gates, after nearly wrecking a police car, overturned and pinned him underneath. The other man escaped. Wayne, taken back to Cicero, took ont white-faced look at the body of the young woman victim, and then started his story.

The expedition apparently was plotted in a Madison street "flophouse." Wayne said his companion, whom he met only four days ago, when Wayne came here from Muskegon, Michigan, was known to him only as "Curly," or "Blond Eddie."

PULLED BOX, SAYS LOHNES

Denial that he had neglected to pull call boxes or report off duty at his station was made today by former Patrolman Albert C. Lohnes of the Charlestown station, at a public hearing in police headquarters.

Lohnes, who lives at No. 260 Geneva avenue, Dorchester, was found guilty of neglect of duty by a board of captains several weeks ago and was dismissed from the department by Police Commissioner Wilson.

The commissioner, after hearing witnesses at the public hearing today, took the case under advisement.

ORANGEMEN ON OUTING

Six hundred Greater Boston Orangemen held an outing and picnic at Lake Pearl, Wrentham, today. Nearly 150 women of the order joined the parade that formed at Copley square and marched to the South Station, where they entrained. Murdock McKillop, grand master, headed the parade. Murdock McKillop, grand master, headed the parade. One of the largest delegations to attend the picnic was from Brookline. Sports, fishing and swimming were the features of the outing.

Belfast, July 12 (A.P.).—Business was suspended in six counties for Orange Day and the 236th anniversary of the Battle of Boyne, at which Protestant forces under William III gained a victory over the Catholic troops of James II.

Every district celebrated with customary fervor. James Pringle, a member of the Free State Parliament, speaking at Omagh in Tyrone, quoted Cardinal O'Donnell, who said the surest path to a united Ireland is the path of good will.

Home Brew Blows Up

Fitchburg, July 12.—The Sunday morning quiet at police headquarters was broken when an explosion took place in the basement. Investigation showed that it was a bottle of contraband home brew.

MAN AND GIRL ARE HELD UP

Worcester, July 12.—Using the methods that made the Troy-Desrosiers gang notorious, automobile thugs held up and robbed Frank Cronin and a woman companion at the terminus of the Upsala street car line, taking $20 and valuable papers from Cronin.

They forced Cronin to drive his car into the gutter, where two of the thugs, producing revolvers, robbed the couple, while a third member of the gang stayed in their automobile, ready for the getaway.

A police thug-catching system, developed during the hunt for the Troy gang, proved worthless, because the big police searchlight failed to work.

BOY WOUNDED BY SHOT FROM RAIDERS

West Springfield, July 12 (A.P.).—Chief of Police J. A. Demers today began an investigation of the wounding of Peter Pradella, seventeen, by a pistol fired by a group of police officers who raided an outdoor "crap game." The chief intimated that the one responsible would be disciplined. Seven shots are said to have been fired tol ntimidate the gamblers. Pradella alleged that he was not a member of the party.

EARTHAS UNIVERSE 'MARBLE'

Harvard Research Shows 103 Worlds as Large Form a Gigantic Globe-Cloud

That 103 complete stellar universes, previously supposed to have been disassociated islands in the sea of space, are in reality all parts of one super system, tremendous in diameter and at an inconceivable distance from the sun, is the new and startling conception arising from recent research at the Harvard Observatory.

Our own universe dwindles to the proportions of a marble when compared to this gigantic cloud of universes now revealed by one of the greatest findings in modern astronomy.

Work done by Professor Harlow Shapley and Miss Adelaide Ames on the most conspicuos nebular cloud, that lying jointly in the constellations Coma Berenices and Virgo, reveals separate nebulae, each nebula being a stelal universe comparable to our own.

ALL SUB-DIVISIONS.

The noticeable similarity of these nebulae in brightness and dimension, together with the fact that two-thirds of them are observed in a patch of the heavens not appreciably larger than that occupied by the bowl of the Big Dipper, has led to the conclusion that the nebulae are all sub-divisions of the same family, and that they are associated in space to form a definite physical system, a cluster of galaxies.

The dimensions of this system are stupendous, the investigators estimating its diameter as 2,000,000 light years and its distance from our sun as 10,000,000 light years. Some appreciation of the immensity of these figures may be drawn from the fact that one light year, the distance travelled by a ray of light in 365 days, is approximately equal to six million miles and that the famous Andromeda nebula is only 1,000,000 light years away from our solar system.

SEPARATELY DETERMINED.

So far is this new system hidden in the depths of space that visual observation, even through the most powerful of telescopes, is entirely inadequate for accurate study.

The investigators have accordingly arrived at their determination of distances only after a comprehensive photographic survey of the region involved. The nebulae was separately determined, and it was found that all but one had an apparent magnitude of between 10.5 and 13.5, the mean for the group being 12.6. At the distance of 10,000,000 light years this brilliancy is equivalent to an absolute luminosity of —15, which is many thousands of times more brilliant than our sun.

9 NON-UNION WORKERS HURT IN STRIKE RIOT

Kansas City, Mo., July 12 (A.P.)—One man was dangerously injured and eight others suffered minor bruises and cuts in a riot which occurred at the Research Hospital here today, when striking carpenters and sympathizers laid down a barrage of stones on non-union men working on a new building.

One non-union carpenter was seriously injured. Two striking carpenters were pursued and captured by policemen. The carpenters' union called a strike here several weeks ago and when builders refused to grant a wage increase.

'COULD YOU LEAVE US? COURSE NOT!'

"WHO'LL BE OUR PAPA AND MAMMA NOW?"
Marion and Elivira Bennett, ages two and three, are again without parents, although they've had four in their brief lives. Now the State is finding them a couple of others and they hope these new ones will stick on the job of being papa and mamma.

TOTS LEFT BY 4 'PARENTS' TO GET OTHERS

On a bench in a big, bustling, funny room at the State House, two confused little girls sat today—awe-stricken, a bit frightened—sometimes wondering vaguely of the strange ways of daddy and mamma.

Twice have tiny Elvira and Marion Bennett, two and three years old, sir, been blessed with mammas and papas—but also twice have the tots found themselves suddenly without them again.

So today, wards of the State at last, they sat politely but quite perplexed, on a hard bench in the office of the State Welfare Society, the darting of bright eyes in every direction constituting their sole noticeable movement.

They were on the verge of having a third set of parents bestwed upon them, this time parents picked by the kindly officials of the State and parents that the very law of averages could not but help make stick to two worried little girls.

For the last year Elvira and Marion have been living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Glazebrook, whose three daughters were the most delightful big sisters to the tots.

Just when it seemed things were going smoothly and that they were to have a permanent home their guardians found it necessary to move from the State for the Summer. Because of circumstances the children could not be taken.

Their parents, Walter and Rose Bennett, at present of parts unknown, had left the children in the care of the Glazebrooks, and Mrs. Glazebrook, before departing thought it her duty to find the parents.

Investigation revealed a rift had come in the Bennetts' marital affairs, however, and the mother had disappeared. Efforts to find the father failed.

Disrespect to Law in Films Banned

Los Angeles, July 12 (A.P.).—Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers & Distributors of America, Inc., made public today a statement outlining the organization's recently adopted policy that no film produced within its ranks shall in the slightest degree encourage disrespect for any law, especially the prohibition law. The policy was adopted during the annual meeting here some weeks ago of representatives of the association.

Mr. Hays' statement:

"Make certain that into no title there be allowed to enter any word, phrase, clause or sentence that directly or indirectly encourages the slightest disregard for law. There might be a tendency to make light of prohibition on the theory that it is a type of humor and might bring the laugh which sometimes follows, but any such treatment of the subject, is, of course, a belittling of the statute itself.

"Make certain that into no picture there be allowed to enter any shot of drinking scenes, manufacture of sale of liquor orundue effects of liquor which are not a necessary part of the story or an essential element in the building up of the plot."

FALLS 50 FEET INTO STEAMSHIP'S HOLD

Falling 50 feet into the hold of the steamer Eastside today, William Burke, fifty-three, married, of No. 261 Quincy street, Dorchester, is on the danger list at City Hospital with a broken hip, wrist and elbow.

Fumes Lay Out Fireman

George Larde, Lynn fireman, is in a serious condition at Lynn Hospital, suffering from partial asphyxiation by ammonia fumes from a leaking pipe at the Luther Witham Market, Lynn.

'MISSING BABY' IS ADOPTED

Newspapermen today located the "missing baby" who disappeared from the "baby farm" being conducted by Mrs. Charles Spears at No. 197 Mount Auburn street last January, while State, city and welfare organizations throughout the State were probing the mysterious disappearance and trying to establish the identity of the child.

A representative of the Cambridge Edition of the Boston Evening American established the fact that the child was safe in Roxbury where he has been legally adopted after being born out of wedlock to a Cambridge schoolgirl.

The child was born in Cambridge on October 7, 1925. He was adopted from the so-called "baby farm" February 9, 1926, by a Roxbury family with whom he now lives, according to papers filed in Suffolk county.

Mrs. Spears, proprietress of the "baby farm," when interviewed by city and State officials relative to the disappearance of the child professed ignorance of its whereabouts.

Adoption papers were handled by Attorney J. Joseph Foley of Central square, on recommendation of Mrs. Spears.

LAND NOW SWEPT BY ANGER AT ACT

Word "Thief" Burned on by Acid; Ridicule Forces Lad From School

Tokyo, July 12 (A.P.).—Consul-General Ransford S. Miller at Seoul, Korea, has reported to the American Ambassador here that a wave of indignation recently swept Korea as the result of the publication of a story of how an American missionary branded the cheeks of a Korean boy thief with acid.

Consul-General Miller says he verified details of the incident, which were also published in Korean papers as follows:

WORD "THIEF" BRANDED.

"Dr. C. A. Haysmeir, a Seventh Day Adventist medical missionary from Minnesota, connected with the mission at Pingyang, caught a young boy stealing apples from an orchard. Haysmeir summoned the boy's mother, threatening to turn the boy over to the police.

"The mother pleaded with him not to do so.

"The missionary then called a nurse and told her to bring some acid. With this he painted the Korean word 'Thief' on each cheek.

The incident occurred last September and was believed to have been forgotten until recently the boy was forced to quit school because of the ridicule to which he was subjected over his burned cheeks. Then the story was made public with widespread indignation.

PAID BOY'S MOTHER

"The missionary paid the boy's mother 620 yen (about $310) and also offered a public apology, saying he did not believe at the time the acid would leave a permanent mark."

Reports to vernacular newspapers say that notwithstanding the payment and apology it is expected charges will be filed against Haysmeir by the Korean Prefectural Courts.

THREAT MADE 'TO DO JOB ON QUIGLEYS'

A surprise defense witness took the stand today in Federal Court and testified in behalf of Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley and others charged with conspiracy, that Pervy Freedman, the government's star prosecution witness, threatened to "do a job on the Quigleys."

The witness was Ignatius Carlton, of Chelsea, former State legislator and the originator of indoor golf, who described a visit paid to his office in Pemberton square by Freedman in 1924, before Freedman was sentenced to twelve years in State Prison.

WOULD "DO JOB."

According to Carlton, Freedman said that if the Quigleys did not stop pushing certain automobile larceny cases on to him, he and his father would "do a job on the Quigleys they would never forget."

Carlton also said that Freedman told him his father was formerly a detective in New York and was connected with the investigation of the Rosenthal murder, in which Police Lieutenant Becker, "Gyp the Blood, "Lefty Louie" and others were implicated.

NOT POLITICAL FRIEND.

Under cross-examination Carlton denied that he was politically a friend of Mayor Quigley, but was opposed to him as a candidate for the office he holds.

David Namet, sentenced to a short term in jail in connection with the cases in which Fredman was involved, testified that Freedman urged him to go before the Grand Jury and testify because the government would get them both out of prison if they could implicate the Quigleys and Chelsea police officers in liquor law violations.

Testifying for himself, Police Inspector Tom Quigley denied he protected Chelsea bootleggers, saying he made 110 liquor raids in 1922, 1923 and 1924, making some of the biggest raids on the men anw women who testified they had purchased protection.

Quigley declared, instead of giving protection to Jake Kark, a liquor man, he had seized $60,000 worth of wet goods in which Kark was interested.

He enumerated raids on the liquor stocks of all the government witnesses who had told the jury "Tom" Quigley was paid by them to keep his eyes closed to their activities in Chelsea.

LEWISTON, ME., BOY DIES OF LOCKJAW

Lewiston, Me., July 12 (A.P.).—Maurice Couture, 13, son of Aloide Couture of Bowdoinham, died in a hospital here of tetanus infection caused by a wound on the Fourth of July from a blank cartridge, Dr. L. J. Dumont, health officer, stated.

Juvenile Tennis Stars of North Shore to Shine on Montserrat Courts This Week

TENNIS, THAT SPIRITED contest full of thrills for the gallery, rides high on the wave of sports, what with the almost immediately impending invitation matches at the Longwood Bowl with stars of renown competing, and the younger boys and girls of the North Shore starting a tournament on Thursday, at Montserrat.

SMARTEST OF SMART matrons of the North Shore colony watch their young hopefuls as they strive for tennis laurels—each and every one a potential star of the Tilden-Mallory-Johnston Kinsey-Wills stripe, so fond parents justly believe.

THIS WEEK'S PLAY follows on the heels of a hotly contested tournament of girls' doubles and mixed doubles. Mesdames Winthrop, Whitman and Cutler, with Miss Alice Thorndike (sportswoman par excellence of the Myopians), arrange details.

MOTORING IN NEWPORT
Mary Ames, daughter of Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames of Boston, and Walter Maynard of New York. (I.N.R.)

AT LONGWOOD there'll not be a vacant space about the courts, with such a star as "Bill" Tilden playing, along with others of only slightly lesser fame. Society always turns out en masse for the Longwood contest.

ENRICHMENT of the splendid collections at the Museum of Fine Arts, ever a hobby of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jackson Holmes and Mrs. W. Scott Fitz, takes a present marvellous form in a rare and beautiful gold lacquer box of Japanese workmanship.

DATING FROM the 13th century and of "fenced Chrysanthemum" design, the box such as is used by nobles of Japan as a "handy" box, is voted a perfect example of Nipponese craftsmanship. It is a noteworthy addition to the museum's already fine and comprehensive collection of gold lacquer.

MR. AND MRS. HOLMES, just back from a month or two in Europe, are at their lovely country home out in Topsfield, that section where vast estates occupy miles and miles of rolling hill and dale.

THE HOLMES' PLACE, near the Topsfield-Boxford line, and close neighbor to the Robert W. Means' country home, is one of the landmarks thereabouts. Mr. and Mrs. Holmes generally prefer to occupy the week-end cottage on the place, rather than the manor house itself.

EN PASSANT, Dr. Lacey B. Caskel of the museum staff is back after two months devoted to Continental European and Scottish museums and their Greek vase collections. Dr. Caskey, like so many other travelers to the British Isles, underwent countless amusing experiences during the recent industrial upheaval there.

DR. CASKEY motored to the Scottish Highlands from London lacking other means of conveyance. All of the Scottish museums were on his list to visit as these, like the Boston Museum, boast especially fine Greek vase collections.

THE BRIGHT Brittany Blue sign of the "Edgewood" bookshop, presided over by Miss Grace Monks, flashes its cheery invitation on the Manchester road, to scores of passing motorists.

AT THE DOOR a ship's bell notifies the shop's mistress of visitors' arrival. And within is the fascinating collection of foreign books, prints and maritime views which Miss Monks, with rare vision, has sought in many lands.

MISS MONKS and her mother, Mrs. Richard J. Monks, whose erstwhile town habitat was a Beacon street apartment, now divide their time principally between "Edgewood," overlooking the sparkling blue Atlantic at Manchester, and foreign travel.

DEAREST ANNE:

Boston is very warm just at present—and this heat and sun certainly does play havoc with one's complexion. I am going to tell you, among other things, of a few of the wonderful beauty aids I know of and heartily endorse. Do try them.

That Indescribable Loveliness

that every woman longs to possess, and which is the cherished treasure of all French beauties, may be obtained by Produits Bertie of Paris. Meyer Jonasson, corner Tremont and Boylston Sts., are now selling these products and these are absolutely the finest toilet preparations made. The results have been more satisfactory than anything else for renewing, rejuvenating and invigorating the skin. Used for years by beautiful ladies of the old nobility and artistes of the French theatre. Eau Detersive is particularly suited to oily skin and large pores. Stimulates flabby muscles and absolutely reduces double chins; $3.50 and $6.00 a large size bottle. Just see what a few applications will do—use on cotton or a tablespoon in a quart of water. Be young again with Eau Detersive.

Creme Detersive goes with the astringent Eau Detersive and finishes and makes a beautiful powder base for the oily complexion. $2.00.

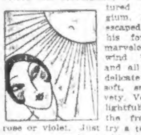
Lait D'oesype is another of the Bertie products and marvelous for a thorough cleansing. Takes every particle of dirt and grime away; is a wonderful tissue builder. Makes the skin soft and lovely, removing hollowness and dark lines about the eyes. A pinky, velvety blush is the result; $3.00 and $3.50 at Meyer Jonasson's, too.

Creme Mediana is for a dry skin, too. Like fluffy whipped cream it is the best finishing cream I know of and only $2.00 a good size jar.

Poudre Mediana is an exceptionally fine and delicately perfumed powder used everywhere by women who know the value of beauty; $2.00. Do go into Meyer Jonasson's and see these Produits Bertie of Paris. I am convinced that there are no finer aids to lasting beauty.

The Touch That Takes

all pain and fire out of sunburn is "Velouderma." A few months ago I discovered this wonderful preparation. You can now get it at S. S. Pierce's in their toilet goods department for 25 cents a tube. Made in Russia before the Revolution, it is now manufactured in Liege, Belgium, by a man who escaped with a few of his formulas. Simply marvelous for sun and wind burn, chapping and all irritations of a delicate skin—makes it soft, smooth and velvety. Velouderma is delightfully perfumed with the fragrance of real rose or violet. Just try a tube and you will never go anywhere without one. European women who know the alluring charm and bewitching beauty of a lovely skin use it very extensively. You, too, should try it. Get Velouderma at S. S. Pierce's in their Tremont Street, Copley Square or Longwood Avenue stores.



Special Sale of Silk Undies

Thresher Bros., 19 Temple Place, are having a wonderful sale of silk underclothes at three prices, $1.25, $2.25 and $3.75.

Thresher's have always been noted for their fine quality silks and their underwear department includes the same exceptional values. The better type of merchandise that appeals to every dainty feminine girl. The values in this mid-Summer sale are simply astounding. For $1.25 are step-ins, vests and slips, all well made, nicely finished and good quality. Also a few cool crepe pajamas at this price. This is certainly the time to pick up bargains—you should see these at Thresher's. At $2.25 are crepe-de-chine step-ins, simply as well as elaborately trimmed, many glove silk bloomers in dark shades to wear with street dresses as well as light Summery ones. Also extra fine heavy quality shirts. All lovely colors and truly a variety of dainty articles that one very rarely finds for $2.25.

The exquisite underthings at $3.75 are most alluring. Wonderful hand made step-in chemises in gorgeous peach, orchid and pink tones. Hand embroidered, trimmed with applique and real filet lace. Reduced from $6.75! Lovely under Summer frocks. Nightgowns of crepe de chine are only $3.75, too, marked from $5.50! Exquisitely trimmed with lace, footing, ribbons and French flowers, all finely pleated and net trimmed at the bottom. Tailored nighties of radium silk are cool and wonderful wearing, and the same price. All lovely shades.

Pure silk jersey bloomers made by one of the most famous manufacturers are $3.75, generally $4.75. Won't wear out. Beautifully cut and extra quality.

At $3.90 are radium, rayon and crepe de chine slips. And for $4.95 are the loveliest you have ever seen, many reduced from $7.50. Beautiful silver sand cloth, heavy crepe de chine, all slips of the best quality.

Do go to Thresher's and take advantage of this sale.

Miss Irene Castle, known in private life as Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, waving farewell to the many friends who witnessed her departure for a season in Europe.

That Glorious Feeling

of absolute freedom on your Summer vacation can only be obtained if a man is properly fitted out with suitable clothes. Talbot's, 395 Washington St., have everything to fill his needs.

Neckwear—Nowhere in Boston is there a larger assortment of four-in-hands and bow ties. New popular figures in Summery patterns, plain tones, narrow and wide stripes and dots—types to suit all tastes—from 65 cents up.

Shirts — Beautiful quality, exceptionally well cut and finished, in broadcloths, cheviots, madras and silks, ranging from $1.00 up. A man must have lots of shirts on his vacation.

Bathing Suits—A plunge into the ocean or lake! How good it feels on a hot day after a round of golf. Talbot's have pure worsted suits, plain trunks with many attractive sporty plain or striped tops. Inexpensive, too.

Bathrobes and beach robes are important—new rayon striped ones are only $5.00. Fold into very small space.

Golf Clothes and tennis clothes should be in every vacation bag. Sweaters, coat or slip-on styles, run from $4.95 up. At 95 cents are stunning golf hose, plaids, stripes, checks and fancy figures. Wonderful wearing, cool and comfortable. Try them.

Pajamas and athletic underwear. Do go to Talbot's and get some for your husband. I've looked and they have the best. $1.35 up. Hickok belts are $1.00.

Hose — Every man should get Holeproof hosiery at Talbot's if he wants the best and cheapest. Do go in before you go on your vacation and be well supplied so you can enjoy yourself while you are away. Have all the necessary accoutrements to a good holiday.

In the Cool Inviting Shade of a large beach umbrella I can sit for hours and watch the waves roll in and the children play in the sand. I just bought the loveliest one at Filene's, and never before have had so much comfort and enjoyment out of anything as this beach umbrella at $5.00. It has a six-foot spread which gives heaps of shade and comes with sectional stripes in green and orange, and black. Really awfully pretty.

Green and white narrow striped umbrellas come for $6.00 at Filene's, too. And at $7.85 are gorgeous horizontal stripes in sunset weaves, lovely soft as well as bizarre tones. The beach umbrellas are specially priced at Filene's, ever so much less than other places. Finest awning cloth. The pole comes in sections so it can be easily folded and carried in your automobile. Well made with metal couplings where it disjoints.

Newport and Southampton, to say nothing of all the French and English seaside resorts, have taken this year more than ever to beach umbrellas and parasols. They are certainly the vogue and most useful, too. All that hot glare is diverted and your head is protected from the broiling Summer sun. Put one up on the beach, lawn or garden.

Waterproof cretonne parasols like the one in the sketch are only $3.50 with pretty hand painted handle and knob end. Stubby and absolutely flat when open. Stunning; comes in beautiful stylish tones.

Lovely oriental shaded Burmese parasols have painted designs. These are $2.75 and are a smart accessory that a woman should not be without.

Do go into Filene's and see both their beach umbrellas and parasols. They are fascinating and so reasonably priced.

Sprightly as Nymphs and Fauns

you will look if you use the Nymphaun toiletries that are on sale this week at Hovey's. Everything is reduced ¼ to ½ less the original price.

The finishing cream is vanishing and as delicate as a fleeting kiss when used as a base for powder. Comes in large jar of a sparkling cerise-orange tone. Most attractive, usually $1.00 and now only 50 cents. Do try it. It is wonderful for protecting and toning up the skin.

A cleansing cream to go with it comes in a stunning jar of shining jet black. It contains oils of unusual cleansing merit. Keeps your skin soft, velvety, healthy and youthful. Reduced from $1.00 to 50 cents, too. Awfully good.

Nymphaun face powder adds charm and subtleness to the complexion and is fragrant with the delicate Nymphaun perfume. Comes in flesh and rachel for 50 cents, generally $1.00. Good size box, designed in Paris, contains soft lamb's wool puff. Wonderful for attaining exquisite rose-petal finish to one's skin.

Lipsticks are delightfully made by Nymphaun. Fascinating gold case holds pomade of just the right consistency to keep the lips soft and youthful in color and contour. Blonde and brunette, 50 cents instead of $1.00.

Have you seen their compacts? Double ones, debutante size, gilt, silver or black enamel, flat and thin with beveled edges and rounded corners are reduced from $2.00, $2.50 and $2.25 to 85 cents each. Other sizes at 85 cents, too. Nymphaun compact powder, flesh and rachel, are 29 cents, in three styles of cases.

The Nymphaun double purpose refills are packaged in a metal box decorated with Parisian Nymphaun design, and have satin-backed puff, only 25 cents.

Large jar of bath salts, originally $1.00, is now only 25 cents at Hovey's. This is a time to get exquisite toilet articles at a greatly reduced price. And the Nymphaun toiletries at Hovey's are wonderful. Do try them.

And Then, My Dear,

I went again into Filene's and right there in their toilet goods department I saw some tubes of Velouderma, that lovely Russian preparation for one's hands. Only 25 cents a tube. It is by far the best thing I know of for whitening and really making the skin soft and lovely. I use it every night. By the way, Velouderma makes a wonderful base for powder on account of its jelly-like, non-greasy substance. It comes in two exquisite perfumes, rose and violet, and the tube is most convenient to keep in your hand bag or golf bag or on your dressing table. Splendid for hands calloused and blistered from golf. As for sunburn and freckles it alleviates all pain and ugliness, making the skin lovely as a peach. Get a tube the next time you are in Filene's. Velouderma is worth to beauty many times its weight in gold.

All Silk—Chiffon and Service

Talbot's, 395 Washington St., are the headquarters in Boston for Holeproof Hosiery, and are specializing this week in their all silk service weight and all silk chiffon stockings at $1.95 a pair. They are simply lovely, absolutely the best stockings I know of at the price. Every pair is thoroughly inspected and beautifully finished and made in all shades, including the new gray beige, Paris mist and Riviera!

Chiffon certainly is most alluring and slenderizing on dainty ankles, and, of course, it leads all others on the Rue de la Paix. Now that we are wearing such short skirts it is almost essential to wear hosiery that is all silk from top to toe.

Holeproof stockings are exquisite, silky, sheer and fascinating. They are made of the finest silk on the finest of machinery, insuring an even, flawless weave. These $1.95 chiffon and pure silk service weight stockings are full fashioned and are like many others at double the price. If you have never worn them, you must try a pair or two, and I know then you will never want to wear anything else.

Of course, Talbot also has Holeproof stockings at $1.00. Pure silk chiffon with mercerized lisle heel, toe, sole and flare tops. They are wonderful and give one style and attractiveness at a very small expenditure. At $1.00 also are heavier silk stockings with lisle heel, toe, sole and top, and these are awfully good for business and general wear. Holeproof $1.00 stockings, both the chiffon and service silk, are the best that may be bought at the price. Do go in and see this new, enlarged hosiery department. Remember, Holeproof at Talbot's.

Affectionately,

Priscilla

COUNTY DOWN PLANS OUTING

By JAMES WALSH.

Joseph Magennis

Final arrangements for the annual outing of the members of the County Down Association were made at the meeting of that organization in Hibernian Building, Dudley street. The outing is to be held next Sunday at Lakeview Park, near Lowell. Special buses will be taken from the Dudley street terminal and the trip will be made through a delightfully picturesque country. Dinner will be served at Allardvale Farm, adjoining the park.

In the afternoon there will be a sport program. The committee in charge includes President John Graham, Joseph Magennis, president of the Central Council of Irish County Associations, chairman; Mrs. Henry McVeigh, Joseph McConville, James J. Murray, Mrs. Katherine Noonan and Miss Christine Keegan.

A reception in honor of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Thomas Joyce of Galway, who came to this country to attend the Eucharistic Congress in Chicago, is being arranged by prominent Irishmen hereabouts. It is proposed to engage the whole Hibernian Building, Dudley street, for the affair, which is to be held Thursday, July 22. John F. Moran is the chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

The sixth annual field day of the Amalgamated Irish Societies of Boston will be held on Russell Field North Cambridge, on Saturday, August 14. A fine field of sports has been arranged. John P. O'Sullivan is chairman of the committee in charge.

The regular meeting of the County Cork Men's Association will be held in Hibernian Hall, Charlestown, next Sunday afternoon.

Three Lockjaw Victims in Springfield

Springfield, July 12 (A.P.).—Fourth of July celebrations in this vicinity have claimed two lockjaw victims, with the possibility of a third, a record unequalled in this city since the inauguration of the "safe and sane" observance some years ago.

George Paderzani, 18, has died, and Yvon Lepage, Jr., 11, died Friday night, and Francis Kelly, 14, of Feeding Hills, is in serious condition in a local hospital.

All three cases were the outgrowth of burns caused by blank cartridges.

ARCHBISHOP MANNIX CONDEMNS FREE STATE

New York, July 12 (A.P.).—Archbishop Daniel J. Mannix of Australia, is as much an advocate of an Irish Republic as ever.

Speaking at a mass meeting, called in his honor by the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic, Archbishop Mannix characterized the Irish Free State as a "wretched compromise."

Extradition Asked

Extradition papers signed by Governor Sam Baker of Missouri were presented to Governor Fuller by Sheriffs Charles Williams and N. C. Eaves of Jefferson County for William Germaine, indicted bank robber, held by the Salem police.

BROOKLINE TAX RATE UP $2.10

Brookline's tax rate for the coming year is $21.30 per thousand, an increase of $2.10 over last year, the assessors announced today. This figure, while not a record, is one of the highest in the history of the town.

An increase of $500,000 in appropriations for the coming year is the cause of the jump. Brookline has voted $3,304,032.38 for expenditures, to which are added county, State and metropolitan taxes, as well as taxes on the Western avenue and Arsenal street bridges.

These taxes bring the total to $3,964,285.42. Deductions from this figure are: State income tax share, $301,663.16; estimated receipts, $457,609.31; poll tax, $23,826, or a total of $783,098.47 The amount to be raised by direct taxation is $3,181,186.95.

The assessed valuation of the town has been increased by $12,000,000 over last year. This year's figure is $149,351,500, as against $136,797,100 a year ago.

FINN OBTAINS NEW TRIAL IN PORTLAND

Portland, Me., July 12.—Maurice E. Finn, head of Finn's Labor Agency of Boston, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Boston & Main Railroad of tickets, was granted a new trial by Judge Arthur Chapman in Superior Court. The new trial was granted as a result of new evidence submitted to the trial justice by Harold A. Berman of Boston, counsel for Finn.

Finn was found guilty in February by the jury before which his case was tried. Sentence was deferred. Two other men, Samuel Slutsky and Patrick J. Connors, both of Portland, were indicted with Finn, but turned State's evidence.

Italy Has Big Surplus

Rome, July 12 (I.N.S.)—Italy will end the present fiscal year with a surplus of 1,200,000,000 lire, according to a statement made today by Count Volpi, finance minister.

PUT THEIR SIGNATURES ON CLEMENCY PETITION

John L. Bates
David I. Walsh
Eugene N. Foss

PLEAD FOR SLAYERS

Three ex-Governors have joined the thousands who are asking Governor Fuller for commutation of the death sentence of the three carbarn slayers. They are, left to right, David I, Walsh, John L. Bates and Eugene N. Foss. Below is a photograph of the names on the petition.

HEINLEIN ASKS FOR CLEMENCY

A personal petition, asking commutation of sentence to life imprisonment, was presented to Governor Fuller and his council today by Edward J. Heinlein, one of the three condemned Waltham carbarn slayers.

The petition was presented through Heinlein's counsel, Charles D. Driscoll, and came as the signatures of two more ex-governors, John L. Bates and Eugene N. Foss, were being added to the general petition, asking commutation for Heinlein and the other two condemned men, John J. McLaughlin and John J. Devereaux.

Heinlein's personal petition, signed by him alone, probably will be introduced by the Governor at the regular council meeting Wednesday and then may follow through the usual channel that takes in an investigation by Frank Brooks, chairman of the Parole Board, who reports back to the council.

GIVES HIS REASONS.

"I, Edward J. Heinlein, now confined under sentence in the East Cambridge jail at Cambridge on conviction of the crime of murder in the first degree, do hereby petition that the sentence of death be commuted to imprisonment for life in the State Prison, and assign as reasons the following:

"1—I did not kill or assist in the killing of James Ferneau.

"2—I specifically requested my associates to do no bodily harm to anyone on the premises of the carbarn.

"3—I never saw the deceased, nor did I know of his being shot until after the incident had occurred.

"4—The death penalty in this case would be exceedingly extreme and unwarranted, and the ends of justice would be met by imprisonment in the State Prison for life."

The signatures of ex-Governors Bates and Foss today brought the number of former Governors to sign up to three.

Ex-Governor David I. Walsh previously placed his signature among the other thousands on the clemency petition that will eventually go to Governor Alvan T. Fuller. Unless commutation is granted, the three Brighton youths will forfeit their lives in less than thirty days.

EFFORTS REDOUBLED.

With the names of these three prominent men on the petition, the clemency committee redoubled its efforts and sent women workers to Charlestown, Lawrence and Swampscott to add more signatures in a house-to-house canvas.

Among the others to come out in favor of commutation of the sentences are Representative Thomas J. Kennedy of Jamaica Plain, a man with the legislator's point of view on the death penalty, and H. E. LeRoy, director of the Boys' Club of Boston, a man who knows the undercurrents of life among city boys.

N. E. TRAIN HAS RADIO SET

St. Albans, Vt., July 12 (A.P.).—For the first time inthe railroad history of New England a passenger train was equipped with a radio receiving set for the convenience of passengers here.

The Central Vermont's crack day express from Montreal to Boston now has a radio receiving set installed in the observation parlor car with an attendant on duty to operate it. The innovation not only makes for greater enjoyment on the part of the passengers but is of great value to business men who may keep in touch with the markets.

FORMER FIANCEE OF DURKIN MARRIED

Chicago, July 12 (A.P.).—The Herald and Examiner in a copyrighted story today says that Betty Andrews Werner, once the sweetheart of Martin Durkin, and later a State witness at his murder trial, was married Saturday night to Clyde Whalen, 23, a Chicago salesman.

The marriage, the story said, took place within a few hours after it was reported that the girl was to marry Arthur Werner, the father of her child. Mrs. Marion Austin, widowed by one of the bullets that flew in a volley the night Durkin made his second sensational escape in Chicago, appeared as matron of honor.

GERMAN NAVY SENDS SYMPATHY MESSAGE

Washington, July 12 (A.P.).—The German Navy was the first to extend a hand of sympathy across the sea today to American naval authorities. Admiral Zenker, chief of the German Navy Department, sent this message to Secretary Wilbur:

"Deepest sympathy of the German Navy over the terrible disaster at Lake Denmark."

His Last Run

BARRED BY AGE

Sheriff John T. O'Dowd of Manchester, N. H., is a candidate for re-election this Fall for the last time after a distinguished career of public service. The age limit will prevent him from running again. He is assured of re-election.

CROWN PRINCE STEERS HIS YACHT TO VICTORY

Oslo Norway, July 12 (A.P.).—Crown Prince Olav steered his yacht Oslo to victory in the international five-days' sailing match for the six meter class at Hankoe. Eighteen vessels, from seven countries, including the United States competed. The victory was decided on points, and the cup was awarded to the Oslo.

SEEK PADLOCK FOR 'GILT EDGE'

A padlock injunction which woul close the Gilt Edge Brewery at Lawrence for one year was sought today in Federal Court by Asst. U. S. District Atty. Elihu D. Stone who charges the concern is violating its permit to manufacture non-intoxicating cereal beverages.

A hearing will be granted late to the officers of the brewery company and also the officials of the Gilt Edge Storage Warehouse, also named in the injunction. The individuals named are Morgan J. Hart and John J. Hart of Lowell, David J. Allen of Jersey City, and Emil Teichart and George L. Black of Lawrence.

Allen escaped service in a Federal court action several weeks ago when he flew out of the State in an airplane to his home in Jersey City. The brewery, under a former ownership, was involved in indictments by a Federal grand jury in Illinois, which alleged the shipment of many carloads of beer from Lawrence to the Middle West.

The permit that the brewery holds authorizes it to manufacture beer from which most of the alcohol must be removed before shipment.

WOMEN FAINT AS SHIP LISTS DURING RESCUE

Buffalo, N. Y., July 12 (A.P.)—Marooned in a disabled gasoline yacht in Lake Erie, just outside the Buffalo breakwater, three men were towed to safety today by the Erie Beach steamship Chicopora. While the work of rescue was going on the many passengers aboard the Chicopora crowded to one side, causing her to dip suddenly and sharply to starboard, resulting in a slight panic aboard. Several women fainted in the excitement. Captain B. J. Senn of the Chicopora restored order.

BUILDINGS BURN AFTER SERIES OF BIG EXPLOSIONS WRECK NAVAL ARSENAL AT LAKE DENMARK, N. J., WITH LOSS OF MORE THAN $100,000,000

Debris was scattered far and near as the huge stores of munitions blew up at the naval arsenal at Lake Denmark, N. J. It was more like the eruption of a great volcano than an ordinary explosion. Windows were shattered for miles around and houses at great distances were levelled both by the force of the major blasts and the exploding shells thrown among them. This photo was taken from a plane and rushed to Boston by air. —International Newsreel Photos

REFUGEES GETTING OUT OF SHELL-ROCKED AREA

GREEN PEPPER AND CHEESE SALAD

Blanch green peppers, cut off large end, remove centers and put peppers on ice. Mix with 2 cream cheeses, ¼ teaspoonful salt, 1 dash paprika, 6 stuffed olives, chopped fine (and ¼ cup walnut meat if desired).

While soft, press into the hollowed peppers, chill and cut into slices. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise, or use as a garnish, cut in thin rings.

Summer Salad

Cut hard boiled eggs in halves, crosswise. Remove yolks and cut a thin slice from end of white so as to make a small cup that will stand upright. Fill the cup with a mixture of ½ cup tiny cucumber cubes, 3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle, moistened with salad dressing. Mash yolks and moisten with salad dressing. Garnish the top of each cup with yolk mixture, forced through a pastry tube, and decorate with diamond-shape pieces of pickle. Arrange thick slices of tomatoes on lettuce leaves and set egg cup on each leaf.

If it's too hot to make your own salad dressing, I'll tell you about a ready made kind that's made of fat, brown fresh eggs. Free from the usual oiliness. Keeps for weeks. Write me for book of salad recipes. (No charge.)

Coffee Cream

Put contents of one box of Coffee Jelly Compound into a bowl. Add a scant pint of boiling water. Stir until thoroughly dissolved. Set on ice for half an hour or until light and creamy. Put into a fancy mould if desired and set on ice again until hard. Serve with cream.

Baked Potatoes

When baking potatoes let stand in boiling water for 15 minutes and they will bake in half the usual time. Pierce them with a fork before baking to prevent bursting open in oven.

FRUIT SHERBET

"Summer's the time for Fun," runs the old song—and for fresh fruit syrups, too. You'll find no end of uses for the contents of these jolly joy jugs if you keep your pantry well-stocked. Most of us are familiar with the delicious beverages to be made from fresh fruit syrups, but perhaps sherbets are a bit newer. Here's a luscious one:

Fruit Sherbet

To 1½ cups of raspberry fresh fruit syrup, add ⅝ cup of sugar. Bring to a boiling point; take off the stove and let cool. Then add 3½ cups of rich milk. Freeze and serve with sponge cake. (If you're wondrous wise, you'll freeze it in "the freezer without a backache." Half a dozen turns during the whole freezing time is sufficient to produce velvet-smooth cream.)

CHEESE DELIGHT

2 Eggs
1½ Cupfuls of Stale Bread
1½ Teaspoonfuls of Salt
⅛ Teaspoonful of Pepper
¼ Pound of Loaf Cheese.
1 Pint of Milk

Beat the two eggs, add the bread broken into bits, salt, pepper, grated cheese and scalded milk. Pour into buttered custard cups or individual casseroles, place in a pan containing a little hot water and bake as custards in a rather slow oven (325 degrees F.) for an hour or until firm. A silver knife inserted in the centre should come out clean. This dish may be baked in a large casserole or baking dish, if preferred. Brightened up with paprika or chopped parsley, it is very attractive.

CHICKEN PIE

2 Cupfuls of Left-over Diced Chicken
4 Pork Chops
½ Teaspoonful of Salt
1 Onion
1 Tablespoonful of Flour
1 Cupful of Chicken Broth
⅛ Teaspoonful of Pepper
⅛ Teaspoonful of Paprika
½ Teaspoonful of Worcestershire Sauce
¼ Teaspoonful of Kitchen Bouquet
1 Pint of Cooked String Beans
4 Small Potatoes
Pastry for Crust

With the left-over chicken the addition of pork chops makes a delicious pie which will serve six people generously. Sprinkle the chops with the salt and fry slowly with two slices of onion. Remove them and make a gravy by combining the flour with the fat in the pan and adding the chicken broth to it. Any left-over gravy may also be added. Season with salt, pepper, paprika, Worcestershire sauce and kitchen bouquet. Cut the meat from the chops in pieces the size of chicken and combine the two meats in a deep, buttered baking dish. Meanwhile cook the potatoes, sliced a quarter of an inch thick, in boiling, salted water for ten minutes. Arrange the beans on the meat and the potatoes over them. Cover with crust brushed with white of egg and bake for twenty minutes in a hot oven (450 degrees F.).

Fresh green peas are most delicious dressed with 3 parts hot butter and 1 part Worcestershire Sauce blended together.

A WOMAN'S "IF"

If you can make a cake that beats all others,
Bake biscuits that are crisp and brown and light,
Broil steak so very well that your own brothers
Admit your food finds favor in their sight;

If you can bear to see the buns you've finished
Used by the kids to feed a hungry crowd;
If you can see your cake supply diminished
And not protest in accents wild and loud;

If you can stretch that sylph, the family bank roll
And make three dollars do the work of ten,
See Father spend twelve dollars for a fish pole,
And wear your shabby last year's hat again;

If you can talk and not be always talking
Or, being scolded, keep your tones mild;
If you can find a way to keep from knocking
Or, given reason, keep from getting riled;

If you can cry and still remain attractive,
If you can lose at bridge and not be blue;
If you can listen and remain inactive
When "cats" in petticoats begin to mew;

If you can manage to refrain from nagging
When the poker club strews ashes on the floor;
If you can dress with speed and without lagging
When a taxi's waiting for you at the door;

If you can greet with every sign of pleasure
A man who values golf above his life,
He'll be convinced that you're a perfect treasure
And what is more—he'll take you for his wife.

A sprig of mint added to fresh green peas while cooking gives them an especially delicious flavor.

When a pie runs over in the oven, sprinkle salt over the juice to prevent filling the oven with smoke and smell.

To clean oven-browned pie plates, soak them in a strong solution of Borax and water.

To sour sweet milk for cooking, add one teaspoon of vinegar to a cup of milk and set in a warm place for a few minutes.

A Hint for Tints

Do you know how many beautiful shades you can achieve through the tinting powders that come for silks and cottons? Truly every rainbow hue from pastels to French blue and cardinal red and it is just as easy as bluing your garments.

First be sure that the article to be tinted is washed clean and thoroughly rinsed. Have enough lukewarm water in a bowl to cover the garment easily, shake in enough tinting powder to give the desired shade (test it first), then dip the article up and down until the shade is right. For a dark shade, add more tinting powder and continue dipping the article up and down until it is just right. Squeeze out surplus tinting water, spread the garment on a turkish towel, roll up as though wringing and press immediately. The tint will rinse right out of the towel.

SHE SOLVED ONE OF HIS PROBLEMS

WHEN a man finds that his soft collars lose their "dressiness" after being washed, it's time he asked his wife's advice. She knows that Linit, the new scientific starch, which makes her own frocks stay soft, white and fresh, will do the same for his collars.

Linit does not merely smear on like old fashioned starches—it penetrates each thread—this strengthens and gives the whole fabric a uniform finish. And Linit makes soft collars, as well as all wash garments, stay clean longer, because Linit fastens back into place the "fuzz" that catches dirt.

The FIGHT GAME FROM THE INSIDE by JACK KEARNS

KEARNS ANSWERS DEMPSEY'S CHARGES

Kearns Turns Guns of Publicity on Dempsey's Life

This is the first installment of Jack Kearns' vividly interesting story of his dealings with Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight boxing champion. Kearns reveals in chapters to follow the "inside secrets" of Dempsey's career. This series will appear every day exclusively in the Boston Evening American.

By JACK KEARNS

First Chapter

MY purpose is merely to answer Mr. Jack Dempsey but that answer ought to be recorded as one of the strongest sermons on ingratitude ever written.

It is not my aim to deliberately set out and belittle Dempsey, but inasmuch as he has created, under his own signature, the notion that from the start, he has taken my hand and led me through the woods instead of my leading him, I think, in justice to myself that he should be answered and right from the shoulder, that the sporting public may know the whole truth of this Dempsey-Kearns business.

Jack Dempsey

Jack Kearns

Before going into the many details concerning our partnership and my bringing him to the championship, details that should make readers blink with surprise in many instances, I think it fair to you and myself to say a word or two about Jack Kearns—who he is, what he was—where he came from and how? I am setting down my early experiences because I am confident that they will interest readers of this story about the making of Jack Dempsey. He was made! Don't forget that.

I was born in Michigan. Folks have believed that I am a Californian. I went there as a child and grew up in a California atmosphere. Somehow or other I drifted in among the boxers when I had grown big enough to appreciate that carrying a chip on one's shoulder required a certain amount of defensive ability. If you declared the presence of the mythical chip you had to protect it.

I was scrappy by nature. I admit that much. I didn't always win. In losing, I usually made it close and no man who went to grips with me ever walked off as if going out of a picnic grove.

FIRST BATTLE FOUGHT IN CALIFORNIA

Almost before I knew it I had entered upon the career of a fighter.

My first ring engagements didn't set the world on fire, 'tis true, but they were desperately sincere with me. I fought around Bakersfield, Cal., at the outset. Purses were lean in those days. A dime got you more than a hundred dollar bill does now, you know.

I think we young birds of those days counted more on ring reputation and admiration than we did the money. I know that I always was far more interested in smacking the other fellow over than in what I was to get for the job. How times have changed!

In the period that I was sculling around Bakersfield, San Francisco, Oakland and other coast fight centres there were some really great fighters strutting their stuff. The best of them was Al Neill, one of the cleverest middleweights that ever lived. Then there were Louie Long, Billy Snailum, Abe Attell, Frankie Neil, Eddie Smith, Frank Rafael, George Herberts, George Green who, many readers may not know, was the original "Young" Corbett, Frank McConnell, Jim Franey, and—well—there were a lot of them. And all fighters from their toes up.

My first real fighting campaign began with a tour of the northern portion of the Pacific Coast. I went on my own. A manager was a thing unheard of. At least a traveling manager, though I'll admit that sometimes I managed a fellow in one burg and fought him in the next.

Usually you dropped into a town broke, dusty and hungry. Instinct pointed you toward the saloon where some big hearted bartenders were willing to listen to the stories of your ring prowess and incidentally hand you a buck with the remark, "Go get yourself a feed kid."

You were "for" that fellow instantly. He became your manager, in that particular place, at least. For the time being you were "bouncer" there and it was your particular delight to bounce a few off a sucker's chin that friend barkeep might know he had not wasted time and money on a punk.

Always there was some town bluff to whip and you trained for the fight right there in the back of the saloon. Business boomed magnificently. You couldn't get in. "Young Kearns," the greatest lightweight that ever came over the pike, was to fight "Pete Potato" in the town hall, winner take all. And they came down from the hills and up from the valleys to get a peek at the fellow who could break a man's jaw with one belt of his fist. I really could hit, you know.

It was a thriller for the bartender. He went over big with the boss. Never had there been such business and hurry orders were sent out for more grog, wine, beer and cigars.

YOUNG KEARNS RISES IN PROFESSION

Of course I cleaned up the "Potato" person. Also I had a new B. R. (bank-roll.) And then on to other towns, leaving friend bartender thoroughly heart broken. He never could understand why the success that had come to one in his particular town would fail to captivate me. Sometimes there were tears in his eyes, as he saw you select your particular freight car with a view to riding to the next scene of a prospective scrap.

Those were my early hustling days twenty-six years ago. Whenever I heard of a set of bouts to come-off, I made for the town and always convinced the promoter of the show that he couldn't go far wrong in giving "Young Kearns" a crack at the best lightweight he could dig up. They were tough and rough days with youth my only asset. From one town to another I fought my way, landing eventually in Seattle.

I had improved as a fighter, despite my steam beer training methods. Beer was filling and it was cheap you know. My first real big fight was with Mysterious Billy Smith. He had a far greater reputation than I, but I fought him just the same and I might add that with all his fame he was as all the other "Pete Potatoes" I had biffed along the line.

I met Australian Tommy Tracey twice. Martin Denny, a right good man, was one of my oponents. It was beginning to be real fighting now. I met Dal Hawkins, perhaps the greatest natural hitter that ever lived. I learned about socking from that bird!

BOOTS DURNELL MAY GET SARATOGA LICENSE

Empire City, N. Y., July 12.—"Boots" Durnell may get a license to train in New York. The veteran trainer has a string of horses in Chicago and only a week ago won the $10,000 feature at Hammond with Smiling Gus. "Boots" would be a valuable adjunct to racing here. His horses raced more consistently than any horses in these parts twenty years ago. For if one takes a cursory glance at the old-time racing records he'll readily see Sailer, Fust, Nealon, Royal Vane and others won more consecutive races than any other racing stable.

BIG GATE FOR TITLE BATTLE

VICTOR AND RUNNER-UP IN UNITED STATES OPEN TOURNAMENT

BOBBY TAKES THE CUP

Bobby Jones, youthful Atlantan, whose brilliant playing won for him the open golf title at the Scioto Country Club, Columbus, receives from W. C. Fownes, Jr., president of the U. S. G. A., the cup emblematic of the title.

THE SUPER-GOLFER

America's golfing king, who in the short space of a few weeks won both the American and British open golf championships. Jones' feat is remarkable and has never before been accomplished in the same year.

ONE STROKE BEHIND

Jones' accomplishment is said to mark him as the world's greatest golfer, but this young man, Joe Turnesa of New York, was only one stroke behind him.

Bobby Jones Proves King of Golfers

By DAVIS J. WALSH

I. N. S. Sports Editor

New York, July 12.—The popular belief that Bobby Jones is the greatest golfer that ever lived doesn't require my confirmation today, some 30 hours after he won his third major title, the national open championship at Scioto.

All I can do is enhance the young man's greatness with the remark that Bobby was stale and over-golfed at Columbus, a fact that he freely conceded before, during and after the tournament.

Yet he won from all the great ones, including Hagen, Diegel, Sarazen, MacSmith, Mehlhorn, Evans, Farrell and others, who neither were supposed to be over-golfed nor burdened by the riches of notoriety that inevitably follows the winning of a great championship like the British open.

Jones was hitting his shots at Scioto only on the final nine holes that won him the title. The 70 he got for the first eighteen holes, he said, simply came unasked. He didn't, in other words, consider that he was playing good golf just because he happened to be scoring well.

CHAMP OUTCLASSES HAGEN.

Jones is neither a braggart nor an alibi man. Therefore, the inference is clear that, had he played typical golf around the "bloody hayfield" he would have made a competitive travesty of the championship.

As it was, even that misfit second round of 79 didn't prevent him from increasing his lead in total strokes over Walter Hagen for the eight championships in which both have been started. He now has twenty-six strokes on the bland Mr. Hagen, or an average of three and one quarter strokes for each tournament.

Some, in accounting for Jones' obvious superiority at the moment, seem inclined to suggest that Walter has seen better days. They are quite wrong. Walter Hagen is just as good as he ever was—a man who overcomes a tendency toward wildness with his truly amazing "money shots" and a great competitive soul. The real answer is that Bobby Jones, getting better with each passing year, has gone beyond Hagen.

PERCENTAGE PLAYING OUT.

Whether he will be able to make the thing unanimous by winning the national amateur at Baltusrol in September is a matter best left to the tender mercies of psychologists and "percentage players." The latter would say that Bobby hasn't a chance, simply because golf history and the law of averages are against any man winning the national amateur title for three straight years, particularly after running through the British and American open fields.

The only thing the matter with that argument is that percentage figuring doesn't apply to a golfer like Bobby Jones any more than a shoe horn applies to a neck.

British Major Will Race Despite Hurt

Atlantic City, July 12.—With death placing a heavy hand on the stars of the speed firmament who were scheduled to drive on the Atlantic City Speedway in the great program of sprint racing this Saturday, a dramatic story of the pluck of a British soldier comes to light today with the announcement that one of the drivers who narrowly escaped death last week will drive despite a broken collar bone.

He is Major John Duff, the famous English soldier and sportsman who recently drove to a new world's record of ninety-eight miles an hour for twenty-four consecutive hours.

Major Duff arrived in this country in time to earn a place among the winners of the Indianapolis classic. Last week during the 200-mile race at the Salem Speedway he crashed through the inner guard rail and smashed his car. He was lifted from the machine unconscious suffering from a broken collarbone. His entry in the Sesqui races at the Atlantic City Speedway on Saturday was scratched, but Major Duff insists he will drive Saturday.

NAME SKIPPERS FOR CANADA-U. S. REGATTA

Seaside Park, N. J. July 12.—Announcement was made here today by Commodore Doan of the Barnegat Bay Yacht Racing Association of the selection of Thomas Horrocks of Philadelphia and Slade Dale of New York as the two captains to represent the United States in the coming international yachting series with Canada on July 24 and 25.

The selection of Horrocks and Dale followed the conclusion of yesterday's regatta and was based upon the performance of the two crack skippers in the early races of this season as well as in the championships in the Barnegat Yachting Association. This year Dale piloted Charles Day's sloop Konowingo of the Mantoloking Yacht Club to victory in two of four races. Horrocks has long been a consistent winner in New Jersey waters.

The Barnegat sailors will journey to Montreal for the first four races in Canadian boats on the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth of this month and in September the Canadian team will sail a return series on Barnegat Bay over the course of the Seaside Park Yacht Club.

Why They Call 'Em Indians

MOST of the big league ball clubs have either thrived or suffered under a large number of nicknames, but probably no outfit has had its handle batted around like the Cleveland club in the American League.

Fully a dozen titles of assorted sizes and shapes have adorned this organization during its career. It was first called the Spiders, and then the Blues, the latter name finding some favor. But when Napoleon Lajoie took it over they began calling it the Naps. When they got tired of Naps they reverted to Blues once more, but that didn't last, and the big parade of nomenclature continued.

The name Indians was first used by a newspaper, and like many newspaper names it enjoyed the most popularity, so much in fact, that it finally stuck, and Indians they are to this day.

(Tomorrow the nickname of the Pittsburgh Pirates will be explained.)

N. Y. Girl in Fast Channel Trial

Deal, England, July 12 (A.P.)—Mrs. Clemington Carson, formerly Miss Amelia Glade of New York, who is training here for an attempt to swim the English Channel, made a fine trial today from Dover to Ramsgate, a distance of twenty miles. She covered the course in six hours twenty minutes and is the first American woman to accomplish the feat.

Mrs. Carson's time was only six minutes slower than that of Frank Perks, the English champion, last year. It is thought she would have beaten all records, but she became partially blinded by the salt water, which almost closed her eyes. She was quite fresh otherwise when she left the water.

Mrs. Carson, in 1921, swam from Albany to New York, covering a distance of 152 miles in sixty-three hours thirty-five minutes actual swimming time. The same year she swam around Manhattan Island in fourteen hours fifty-seven minutes.

Trade Board Stages Annual Golf Joust

By BILL GRIMES

THE annual swatfest of the Retail Trade Board of Boston, in the form of an 18-hole handicap medal play tournament, will be played at the Charles River Country Club tomorrow.

From noon until darkness falls, members of the Retail Trade Board will be battling for the wonderful array of prizes which have been contributed by the various stores. With the exception of topped drives and missed putts there will be prizes for everything.

The field will be divided into three classes. The fight for the low gross and low net prizes in Class A promises to be a merry one. The handicaps in this class range from 1 to 18 and the odds will be with the high handicap men. If the handicaps in classes B and C are on the up and up, the scores will run high and lofty, and the handicaps will come in handy.

Bill Grimes

There will be special prizes for the best net scores on the out going nine holes, the incoming for the highest out and highest in and also for the 18 hole putting contest.

The prize for the Newspaper guests will be awarded to Burt Hoxie on the first tee and then the scribes will go out and, with the pressure removed, enjoy a round of golf over a real sporty course.

TROPHY FOR VICTORS.

The feature of the annual Retail Trade Board of Boston annual tournament is the contest for the Schaschke Cup, which is awarded to the team of four players from any store which is a member of the board, turning in the best total for 18 holes. The Schaschke Cup is one of the most prized golf trophies ever offered in this section and all the stores have been combing for golf talent for weeks in the hope of annexing this cup.

The Retail Trade Board cannot be accused of picking any soft course for this year's tournament, for Charles River is a real championship lay out and calls for real golf to get anything like a respectable score. Not satisfied with the natural obstacles, it has been voted that all play will be from the back tees.

The best 16 gross scores from the entire field will qualify for the championship flight of the Boston Retail Stores match play. All championship matches will be played from scratch and must be completed by Oct. 15.

The New England Professional Golfers' organization is holding an amateur pro tournament at the Plymouth Country Club today. This 36-hole event will be one of the best of the season.

Donald Vinton, the Massachusetts open champion, who is the pro at Plymouth, will be teamed with Bill Blaney of Brae Burn and Plymouth and will be out to show the members at his course how he won his title at Worcester. Vinton and Blaney are a strong combination. They have shown the way to the boys in a number of these tournaments and on their home course will have quite an edge.

Another formidable combination in action at Plymouth will be Bert Nicoll of Belmont and Warren Hopkins of Charles River. Both Nicoll and "Hoppy" are familiar with Plymouth and can be relied upon to be in the money.

Out at Montclair, the Newspapermen's Golf Association will be in action over the Wollaston Golf Club course, starting at an early hour this morning. The second rounds of match play for the Fuller Cup will be played off.

Police Prevent Lynching of 'Ump'

Worcester, July 12.—A baseball game between the Laurel Athletic Club and the Blue Banners, two amateur teams, threatened suddenly to turn into a riot at the Oval when one team took exception to a decision on the bases and started at the umpire with the loudly-announced intention of lynching him, with the aid of their rooters.

Patrolman Ira Goodwin ordered a spectator to send for reserves and rushed to the side of the umpire. The unhappy official disappeared and a patrol wagon filled with policemen arrived to find that the game was progressing again with a new umpire.

LYNN Y. M. H. A. DEFEATS CHELSEA RIVALS

The Lynn Y. M. H. A. won its second league game in two starts when it defeated the Chelsea Y. M. H. A. by the score of 2 to 1 on Carter St. Field, Chelsea. Rooma Flotstein on the mound for the Lynn team was in rare form holding the Chelsea sluggers to two hits.

FANS PICK CHAMPION TO REPEAT

Record Crowd to See Berlenbach Defend His Crown Against Delaney

By JOSEPH GORDON,

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, July 11.—Perhaps the largest crowd ever to attend a boxing match on the left bank of the East River will pack the field seats and grandstands of Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, next Thursday night to watch Paul Berlenbach defend his light heavyweight crown against his most formidable opponent, Jack Delaney.

In the language of political bosses, this is the plum of the outdoor season, from the financial point of view. Already the advance sale has passed the quarter million mark, and even in these days of magic purses and tremendous "gates" a quarter-million dollar advance sale is quite an advance sale.

According to reports from their respective camps, the athletes are ready to go, trained to a turn. Delaney, ready to make a bid of his young life for the light heavyweight title, has devoted a great deal of his training time to studying various ways and means of how to overcome Berlenbach's left hand. He has fought Berlenbach twice before and now he feels that he has the champion's number.

Berlenbach, by the same token, also knows Delaney's style. For it happens that he fought Delaney as many times as Delaney fought him. And his argument seems to be that if Delaney really has his number, as alleged, it is far from the right one.

SMITH TO HURL FINAL GAME

St. Louis, Mo., July 12.—The Braves will pull out of St. Louis tonight following the finale of the five-game series today, and they are not weeping over the prospects of leaving both the heat and the Cardinals.

Doubtless Bob Smith will hurl for the Bancroft entry today, with Victor Keen in line to work for the locals. Keen has been on a losing streak of late, and the Braves will have a fine opportunity to pick up another victory such as their laughable decision in the second half of Sunday's double-header.

SPRINT TITLE RACE AT OVAL WEDNESDAY

The first of the series of races for the New England professional sprint championship will be staged at the Revere cycle track Wednesday night in connection with the regular card of racing.

At present there are about 30 riders competing in the money chasing class. All these are entered, which means fully 10 heats will be raced before the winner is determined.

Bobby Walthour, Jr., has decided to make the Revere track his headquarters for the remainder of the season. This popular ankler will be the favorite to land the New England sprint crown, but he will receive plenty of stiff competition. Willie Fenn, Gus Merkle, Louis Benazzato, Dick Schneider and Chick Meyers are the men expected to give Bobby the most trouble.

For the paced race Manager Butler has lined up six engine chasers for a 40-miles race. Charley Verkeyn, Larry Gaffney, Clarence Carman, Victor Hopkins, Dan Pischione and John Gallo will provide the action.

EBBETTS TO MEET ROBERTS WEDNESDAY

New York, July 12.—Harry Ebbetts, the hard-hitting welterweight of Freeport, L. I., who has turned in a score card that shows thirty-one knockouts out of thirty-three starts, will endeavor to keep up his stunt of knocking out opponents on Wednesday night when he meets Jimmy Roberts in the main bout at Mitchel Field. Harry Duer and Alex Toberiski are also on the card, as are three six-round events. The show will be held regardless of weather conditions. In case of rain the bouts will be held in the big indoor arena.

No. 349 Wanskuck Blue Serge
When the master craftsman puts the word "Sterling" on silverware he gives you a standard that you can be governed by. To the people of Boston, when I say "Wanskuck" and strengthen it by saying No. 349, and showing you the original tickets on the piece, it means the same high standard of value that "Sterling" does on silver.
For the next week I will offer as a specialty No. 349 Wanskuck Blue Serge, the standard serge of America, soft in finish, beautiful to the eye and wonderful to handle, and I don't care if you are 56 breast, I will take your order for a suit of clothes, made any style, single or double breasted sack—

HORSEMEN GATHER FOR THREE DAY SPEEDWAY RACES

HALF MILE RACE MEET BIG MAGNET

Simon Pures of Several Clubs to Compete for Junior League Honors

By GEORGE GRIMM.

Boston today became the mecca of horsemen here for the three-day horse meet at the Charles River Speedway, Brighton, under the direction of the Junior League of Amateur Driving Clubs.

This unusual affair, the twelfth annual interclub meet, will start tomorrow at noon with an elaborate program.

George Grimm

Admission to the races will be free.

All racing will be done over the half mile speedway track with the best pacers and trotters competing in the various events on the program. Among the different associations and driving clubs interested in this three-day meet will be the Old Colony Driving Club, South Weymouth, Metropolitan Driving Club, Road Drivers' Club of Hartford, Ct.; Road Horse Association of Newark, N. J., and Nassau Driving Club of Mineola, L. I.

All drivers and owners are strictly amateur sportsmen. In most cases the owners do the driving themselves or have amateurs driving.

One of the chief prizes in the three day meet is the League Point Cup. This trophy goes to the club scoring the greatest number of points through the three day meet racing and the horses following the winner in each event will get their point also.

Double Windup on Fort Banks Card

Athletic Officer Capt. Dick Lowrie of Fort Banks, in preparing his boxing card for next Monday night at the Fort, has covered every boxing center in Greater Boston. A twin wind-up of eight rounds each finds rivals pitted against each other. In one bout Tommy Duffy of Revere will clash with Gene Rowan of Cambridge. The other features Buddy Jenkins of Lynn and Tommy Clayton of the West End.

Captain Lowrie is working in a preliminary card which he expects will combine action, zip and plenty of punching. He plans to stage three six round bouts.

The Fort boxing shows have made strong appeal to residents of Revere, Winthrop, East Boston and [illegible]. Action is jammed in every bout. In the last show, four knockouts were registered in the five bouts.

Joe Stecher Craves Return Match With Strangler Lewis

Los Angeles, Cal., July 12.—Joe Stecher, world heavyweight wrestling champion, announced today that he not only wishes to accommodate "Strangler" Ed Lewis, deposed champion, with a return engagement, but craves the opportunity, and is willing to hold the match in private or for the Crippled Children's Hospital fund.

Stecher, the saying goes, was "all burned up" and taking no pains to conceal it. Lewis has been insistently claiming the title.

But Stecher, through his brother-manager, Tony, said that, while he was willing to accept any of Lewis' challenges, it would have to be outside Chicago. Stecher prefers the match in California and is willing to allow the State Athletic Commission to select any referee it chooses.

Foreign Stars Hurt by False Conceptions

By STED CHANDLER

THE Hoff A. A. U. incident—may it rest in peace—brings up again the question, why do all the foreign athletic invaders manage to get themselves in trouble one way or another before they leave our shores, and that in turn, brings up again the old story of the fundamental differences between America and Europe.

The American sporting public, and on the whole it is really a "sporting" public, views with concern the inevitable jam in which the foreigner nearly always succeeds in wedging himself. The average fan is a fan, not because he enjoys witnessing a fight, but because he enjoys sport for sport's sake. Fights are incidental, and as often as not, they leave a bad taste in the mouth. And even that portion of the public which enjoys the scrapping while it lasts, has come to know that the athletic hangover is as disagreeable as any other.

But, as sure as your aunt's name is Emma, does the foreign star, once he arrives in this country, become entangled in the [illegible] web of trouble which is so cleverly set for the uninitiated.

The large item is professionalism, and it is as easy to become a professional as it is to get a drink in Glasgow. It is easy enough for the home-bred athlete, but the chances are ten to one against the outsider.

WHY? In the first place, the pecuniary item is very important to the foreigner and may be said to occupy his attention even before he leaves his own home town, and even though he may have every intention of remaining an amateur.

America in Europe is regarded as the birthplace of money. Hence our immigration problem. It is natural then that the athlete, whose own country provides but little intentive for his talent, should look across the Atlantic for inspiration. He does, and he comes here to show his wares.

Far be it from us to accuse all foreign athletes of the intention to capitalize their abilities in the United States, but the fact remains that the temptation is great, and that if they maintain their amateur standing the expense is more often than not going to be incommensurate with the trouble involved in journeying here.

As they consider America to be more or less a land of miracles, the idea grows that it will somehow be possible to be an amateur and still [illegible]. This idea is fertilized by conscienceless promoters the moment they arrive at Quarantine.

THE visitors are generally unfamiliar with American as she is spoke, and consequently are not capable of detecting all the "fine points" in the arguments presented to them by those whose primary interest in sport is financial.

Whether or not they succumb to the professional lure, they are bound to get into hot water. As soon as they do, they are finished in this land as far as their success is concerned. The fickle public turns upon them and the next item of concern is thehir passage home.

It has happened in countless cases. Nurmi and Hoff, two of the world's greatest athletes, have furnished the outstanding examples. It is virtually impossible for the European to avoid difficulty.

The reasons are two. The European's own conception of America as the land of opportunity—"opportunity" being spelled $$$$$$$, and the conception of the unscrupulous promoters here, American and foreign, that the European star is easy money.

It is unfortunate that such a condition exists, but the amateur organizations are to be congratulated when they take an unqualified stand to maintain amateur standards.

INTEREST HIGH IN RING CARD

With only one boxing attraction on the card for local fistic fans this week, it is expected that the first all-star show of the Cycle A. C. to be staged at the Revere Beach Bike track Thursday night will prove a strong magnet for followers of fistiana.

Especially in view of the fact that six bouts including 50 rounds of boxing in which well matched opponents will swap wallops.

In Archie Walker, New York Hebrew who meets Billy Murphy of Lowell in the 10 round wind-up, Hub fans will get a peek at the boy who is considered the greatest threat in the ring to the reign of Sammy Mandell as lightweight champion.

Murphy ranks beside Al Mello in popularity in Lowell and it is expected that a special train will make the trip to Revere to bring Murphy's rooters to the ringside.

Next to the appearance of Walker, the professional debut of Joe Monte, amateur heavyweight champion, is proving fodder for the fans. Monte will be forced to stop many punches Thursday night as he clashes with Jimmy Madden of Roxbury.

The ten round semi final will bring together Steve Smith of Bridgeport and Terry Parker of the North End in a return bout.

Nearly 10,000 seas at $1 are available.

300 TROTTERS TO RACE OVER TOLEDO COURSE

Toledo, O., July 13 (A.P.).—Three hundred Grand Circuit trotters and pacers and horsemen from all over the country are here today for the opening of the Grand Circuit meeting at Fort Miami Park. Stables at the suburban racing plant are filled and it was indicated this morning that it would be necessary to press temporary quarters into use.

MARTY SILVERS IS AFTER TITLE BOUT

New York, July 12.—Marty Silvers, one of Brooklyn's junior lightweight contenders, is accounting for some good battles since going back under Nat Rogers' management. He has had two scuffles and made good both times. Silvers is eager to tackle Joe Malone, Petey Mack, Jackie Snyder and Tod Morgan.

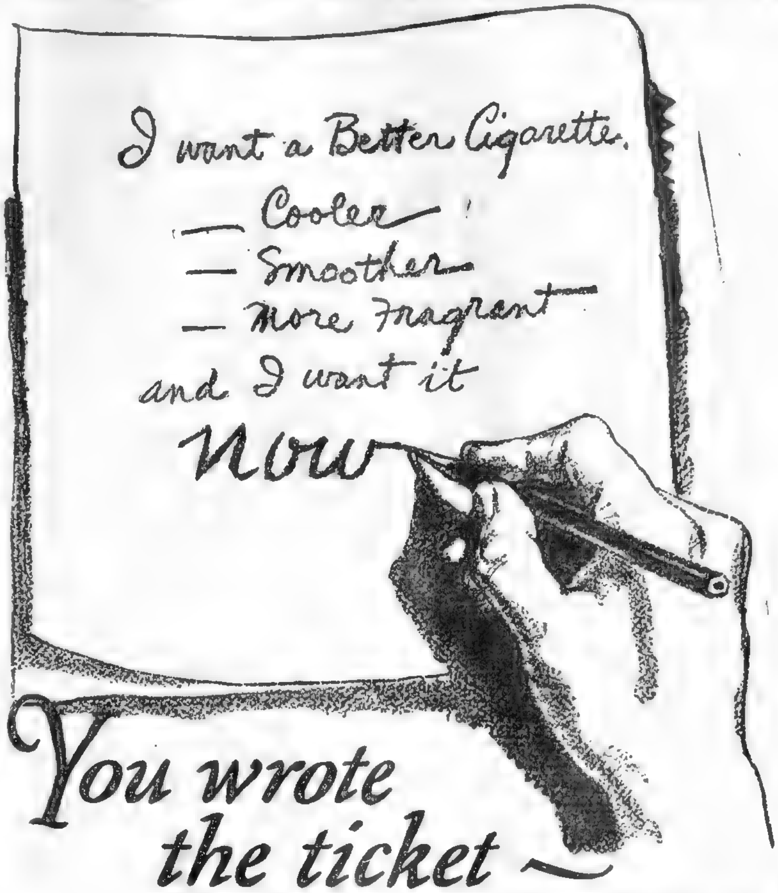
THE DAWN OF A BETTER CIGARETTE



You wrote the ticket —

we made the cigarette!

20 for 15¢

This better cigarette didn't just happen. It was made to your order.

You, the American smoker, told us just what you wanted in this better cigarette.

You wrote your own ticket—and we made a cigarette to fit it.

For a year and a half we asked smokers everywhere to tell us what was wrong with their favorite blends.

"Too hot"—said some.

"Burns too fast," said others.

"Parches the throat"—said still others.

"Too strong," said still others.

Then we went to work, preparing blend after blend and submitting them to smokers throughout the nation.

Finally you said—"You've got it."

And so came this smoother, cooler, more winsome cigarette—this cigarette that delights the palate—caresses the tongue—and feels like velvet to the throat.

What better name could we give it than OLD GOLD to express its incomparable quality standards—its 100% solid smoking enjoyment without alloy!

German Star Whips Richards

Berlin, July 12.—America's tennis colors dipped towards Germany when Vincent Richards, Olympic champion and third ranking player of the United States, went down before the strokes of Roman Najuch, Germany's brightest star.

In an exhibition match before Berlin's tennis elite Richards easily took the first set, 6-2. In the two remaining sets, however, the youthful American proved no [illegible] for the tall [illegible] German, who won them both, 6—2.

MOURN J. W. WEEKS AND LAUD SERVICES TO COUNTRY

the little New Hampshire farm near Lancaster, April 11, 1860, he kept in each stage of life an ever present human viewpoint.

Until he was 17 he was doing chores on the farm. His graduation at the cross roads school and local high school placed him soon afterwards in the school master's chair.

The then young school master succeeded at the age of 18 in getting an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he was graduated four years later a midshipman. He and a number of his classmates resigned two years later.

WAR VOLUNTEER.

Incidents followed rapidly in the life of Mr. Weeks after his resignation from the navy. He served as a volunteer during the Spanish American War, and later accepting a reserve commission as Rear Admiral, he turned away searching for new fields and a livelihood.

In 1885, Mr. Weeks married Miss Martha Sinclair and journeyed south as a surveyor and land commissioner for the Florida Southern Railroad. Three years later he returned to New England, joining partnership in Hornblower & Weeks, bankers, of Boston.

Busy as was his career as a banker, Mr. Weeks found time for public service. He contributed to the development of the Bay State Naval brigade and later commanded a brigade in the rank of captain.

In 1900, Captain Weeks began to attract attention in New England political affairs. In 1902, he was elected Mayor of Newton. He went to Congress in 1905.

In 1913 Congressman Weeks became Senator Weeks, succeeding Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts.

He served in the Senate until 1919.

The Republican national convention at Chicago in 1916 saw in him one of the leading candidates for the Presidential nomination. Twenty-five States cast 105 botes for him.

Mr. Weeks was one of the first selections made by President Harding when he was choosing his cabinet.

WORKED TOO HARD

The strictest sort of application to affairs of the War Department and the long hours he labored there left their mark on Mr. Weeks.

Secretary Weeks was retained in the Cabinet when President Coolidge took office and he continued as Secretary of War to October [illegible] 1925, when continued ill health forced him to retire. After his retirement Mr. Weeks traveled much in the hope of finding a suitable climate.

Mr. Weeks was a member of the following clubs and societies: Boston Press Club (life member), University, Middlesex, Brae Burn Country, Newton, Republican, Metropolitan, Chevy Chase, Army and Navy (Washington), Society of the Cincinnati, Military Order of Foreign Wars, Sons of the Revolution, Society of War of 1812, Naval and Military Order Spanish-American War.

Besides Mrs. Weeks, a son, Sinclair Weeks, and a daughter, Mrs. John Washington Davidge, survive.

Coolidge Sends Message of Sympathy

Paul Smith's, N. Y., July 12 (A.P.).—A message of sympathy was sent by President Coolidge today to Mrs. John W. Weeks on the death of her husband.

"The passing of Former Secretary Weeks," the President said, "means a great loss to all of us. I have known him since his first campaign for Congress in 1904. He was one of the strong men in national public life as a member of the House and Senate and later as Secretary of War.

"He has left an enviable record in all of these distinguished offices. It was with great regret that I accepted his resignation from my Cabinet about a year ago. I mourn his loss because he was my personal friend and because the unselfish service to the country to which he devoted the best years of his life won for him the admiration and respect of the whole nation.

"Mrs. Coolidge joins me in the expression of deepest sympathy for you and the other members of his family and friends."

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, pretty and gay as her nickname, falls in [l]ove with ANTHONY GAINES, a young lawyer.

But Tony is really in love with Merry and wants to marry [h]er. But Merry refuses because she has always been fickle, and [is]n't sure now that she cares deeply for Tony Gaines. They [f]inally decide to marry at the end of six months, and as time [g]oes on Merry finds out that she loves Tony. She begs him to [m]arry her at once, but he insists upon waiting.

In the meantime Merry's father dies, and she takes a job [i]n a Boylston street beauty shop, having failed in her stenog[r]aphy course to the disgust of MOMS, her mother. Helen, the [ol]dest, stays at home to help with the housework. CASSIE, the [se]cond oldest, secretary to MORLEY KAUFMAN, a broker with [w]hom she's in love, is the mainstay of the family.

One night Tony breaks an engagement with Merry. Hurt [an]d angry she lets DERRICK JONES, who lives next door, [m]ake love to her. Later she tells Tony about it, and then one [ni]ght she goes out with BILL ERSKINE, a friend of Morley [K]aufman. She never sees Tony after that, for he closes his law [of]fice and goes out to Montana to live. He sends Merry a letter, [b]ut it is lost before she has a chance to read it.

Merry hardens her heart against Tony, returns his ring to [hi]s mother, and when Bill Erskine comes to town again, she [m]akes up her mind to go out with him and have a good time. [H]e comes to take her to dinner in a car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"[illegible] still are engaged, aren't you?" he asked after a moment.

"No, of course I'm not," Merry answered. "I really did give back [illegible] ring. I got to thinking things [illegible] and I decided I didn't want to get married."

"Wise kid," said Bill approvingly. "There are better things for a girl [illegible] getting married. Plenty of [illegible] when she's pretty and young like you, Little Sister. You ought to have the world [illegible] for the next five years."

Merry looked down at her little feet and said nothing.

Marriage Discussed

"I don't know a single couple that's happily married," Bill went on, his cigar glowing redly against the dusk. "All the ones I know fight like Kilkenny cats. Say!" he laughed [illegible] "I'll bet that bird of yours went crazy when you sent back his ring, didn't he?"

Merry frowned. She didn't like to hear the man [illegible] her [illegible] Tony Gaines "that bird." Her affairs were none of his business, either.

"Where are we going tonight?" she asked coldly.

"Let's go to the shore," said B[ill].

The dining resort was packed when they got there. People sat with their faces close together over the little tables, chattering and laughing.

DAUGHTER MISSING MONTHS

Cleveland Father Has Reunion on Finding Her in Winthrop

Clasping his long-lost daughter in his arms, Samuel Schecter, Cleveland rug merchant, collapsed today in the home of Mrs. Nora McLaughlin, matron of the Winthrop Police Department.

The father, on seeing again the eighteen-year-old girl he had mourned for a year and a half as dead was overcome with emotion when she sobbed out her sorrow over his months of worrying and said she would go back home with him.

FLED FROM HOME.

Just a year ago last November, Goldie Schecter, just a bit past sixteen years old, fled her home in Lakeview avenue, Cleveland, and from that time until a few days ago every trace of her was lost.

Then a letter was received by the father, a letter from the girl in which she asked forgiveness and if he would care to have her home [illegible]

A telegram was flashed back to Goldie and another went to the Winthrop [illegible] the address she had given.

Lieut James Douglas of Winthrop found her at the Winthrop Summer home of Mr. and Mrs Sara Dennison of Lexington. She had been taking care of the three Dennison children since early last Fall.

HURRIED TO WINTHROP.

Meanwhile, with the girl under care of Mrs McLaughlin, police matron, the father rushed to Winthrop, arriving at the South Station in the early hours and racing to the [illegible] in a taxicab almost as soon as [th]e sun was up.

"I am the happiest man in the United States today," declared the father when he had recovered his composure after the affecting greeting. "I wouldn't swap my position for that of the President of the United States."

GIRL OVERJOYED, TOO

Equally overjoyed was Goldie [illegible] that any friction at home had influenced her leaving to make her way in the world.

"[illegible] to see my father [illegible] I am going back [illegible]" she said. "[illegible] appreciate the [illegible] of Mrs Dennison, who has been a real mother to me. I will miss her terribly, and I will miss Baby George Wheaton Dennison whom I have been taking care of [illegible] home after [illegible] months."

The Schecters, father and daughter, will leave for Cleveland at 6 P M today via the New York [illegible]

Then when [illegible] comes [illegible] interesting game of trying to beat its own Budget, has probably used less coal than ever before.

Careful watch on furnace and kitchen range will save many a shovelful of coal. If you have carefully estimated your fuel bill from past records and the usual allowance of one [illegible] for every 100 square feet [illegible] it will be pretty careful not to exceed this fair [illegible].

How will this happy state be brought about by Budget? Instead of [illegible] the coal bill, insurance and other big seasonal bills accumulate to alarming proportions, Budget will make each salary check carry its own share of the burden. Each week 15 per cent. of the [illegible] to $4 a week will be put away for the black diamonds. In the same fashion the insurance premiums will be taken [illegible] of the total family income is laid away weekly to cover all forms of savings.

"Boston to Broadway," as Revealed by George M. Cohan Himself

IN two weeks' time in London I was set and ready to try my luck as an English producer, and jumped back to New York to engage certain actors for certain parts. I had booked return passage and was to sail again for England within the week.

A committee of independent actors, headed by Henry Miller and Otis Skinner, called on me and requested that I reconsider my decision to produce abroad. Henry Miller, as president of the "open shop" actors association, spoke for the entire membership.

"We don't want you to go," he said, and presented me with a resolution signed by every man and woman of his organization.

"All right, Mr. Miller. If they feel that way about it, that's the way it's going to be." There was [illegible]

[illegible] to London that [illegible] were off [illegible] Atlantic City with a [illegible] of stenographers, had a piano shoved into my apartments, and returned to New York in three weeks with a new Cohan musical play, entitled "Little Nellie Kelly."

I produced "Little Nellie Kelly" at the [illegible] Theatre [illegible] Even "Mary" and [illegible] big song hits [illegible] altogether my biggest [illegible] success since the days of "Little Johnny Jones." A second company was organized and presented the piece on tour, while the original cast held on for a solid year's run at the Liberty Theater in New York City.

With this piece successfully run[illegible]

Brighter every night.

"Tisn't easy to say, Good-by Broadway."

And now just a word in closing to all aspiring young playwrights.

My theory of popular playwriting and the way to set about it is, very briefly, as follows:

First, think of something to say. Then say it the way the theatre goer wants to hear it [illegible] of course, that you must [illegible] like the dickens.

I expect the [illegible] good [illegible] form [illegible] and as I have stuck [illegible] truth and nothing but the [illegible] with no attempt at [illegible] I dare say [illegible] conversation [illegible] right, don't worry [illegible]

With these few remarks I [illegible] wish [illegible] permanent retirement from the literary [illegible]

Livingstone was right, however [illegible]

[illegible] the strange and [illegible] expectancy of something beyond our ken, all added to the history of the house itself and its recent tragedy, had prepared us for anything. The billowing of the cabinet curtain was particularly terrible. I had the feeling of some dreadful thing behind it, something we should not see, and yet somehow might see.

Both Crawford and Cameron believe that certain individuals have the ability to project from their bodies [illegible] invisible [illegible] of producing levitations, raps and other phenomena. They believe that these [illegible] are directed by outside spirits [illegible]. My own conviction is that if such power exist they are not directed from outside, but by the medium's subconscious mind. In that case, of course, it is possible that Jane was the innocent author of last night's entertainment.

Mrs. Livingstone suggests that if we secure anything of interest tonight, I consult Cameron with a view of his joining us later on.

TO LIVE LIFE O'ER

By Merlin Swift

GRETCHEN was gone. Gretchen [illegible] Herman S[illegible] [illegible] big house, big car, big money, no work—and she is gone to where I don't know."

Herman sat in the big house. It [illegible] between a Chinese pagoda and the Mosque of St. Sophia, and furnished on the scale of highhat theatre lobbies. The big car waited outside painted like an ambulance and built to run on plate glass roadbeds.

The big money was safely looked after by trust companies. Herman [illegible]

"Maybe yes. I go by Cousin Leah's in Milwaukee, Herman Ober. I don't stay here like a beauty show and do nothing. I have nice silk [illegible] I take [illegible] face punched by experts. We don't go some more by the movies Wednesday night and hold hands like when we was young. No. We go hear opera, fall asleep, wake up and fight. [illegible]"

So Gretchen had gone, and Herman Schultz with all his money was miserable. His misery grew as weeks dragged into months and no word came from her. She had not gone to Milwaukee, evidently not being that much discouraged. But wherever she had betaken herself Herman heard nothing of her. She might for all he knew have gone back to Bergen-op-Zoom to sit by the canal side and watch the windmills that she loved.

But Herman missed her. They had been so happy, just he and Gretchen. They married when they were just boy and girl, when the opening wonder of love like a rose to those who have lived all their days in the dark, seemed to bring high heaven to lowly earth, making work easy, things light to bear—because they loved, and forgot all things in their joy in each other. Stolidly, tirelessly, Teutonically, they had worked in the hot little kitchen behind the Holland delicatessen away down in the lowlands of New York, where Herman never went after their work had won him wealth.

That flood of wealth, riches they had pined for, but he far more than Gretchen—had been a curse, not a blessing. It had brought discontent. It had lost Gretchen to him and he faced the downhill road with as much dreariness of heart as with love and laughter he had climbed the uphill road with a little Dutch girl's hand in his. Sometimes Herman wept fat tears when he thought of that.

He hunted for her with no success. You have no idea how tiny a 200 pound woman is until you lose her in New York. He put pathetic little notices in the papers, forgetting that Gretchen had rarely looked at a paper till new found leisure drove her to it through sheer desperation.

Herman was so distraught looking for her that he let things run wild. Usually long headed and wildly in love with the buffalo on the nickel, he foolishly said yes to everything his brokers suggested. The result, as might be expected in a nation of financial wizards and flocks of goats, was that Herman found himself one day with hardly [illegible] He was [illegible] didn't own a hole in one of Schultz's cheeses.

Gretchen gone, money gone, desire for life departed, Herman Schultz, like many a good man before him, decided to go himself.

"I will go by the river," he said. "Maybe Gretchen has gone so soon and I see her there."

To get to the river one must pass through that [illegible] section of the city wherein Herman Schultz's early days were spent, where his love blossomed among garbage cans and gutters [illegible] ripeness thrived amid squalor and smell.

Herman smiled a slow Dutch smile as he turned into Vandorat street, for halfway down the block he could see the light of the Holland Delicatessen.

It was his first visit to Vandorat street since he and Gretchen had driven away in the big car like an ambulance. Now old memories flooded around him. There was Fritz Haecker's shoeshop across the street [illegible]

"Yah, I [illegible]," said Herman. "We work and be happy all over again."

When the shutters covered the windows of the Holland Delicatessen, two fat old children stole off to a movie where they sat hand in hand and sometimes sighed happily.

TRAVELING WITH THE CHILDREN

By L. Lamar Matthews

ON the two days' trip from New York to Florida were two families—Mr. and Mrs. Roper and their young son, Preston, were in one Pullman car; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce, with a little boy and two small daughters, were in another.

Preston played checkers or dominoes both mornings and part of the afternoons. Besides that, he brought along a book that he liked, and occasionally he and his parents engaged in lively conversation. Two or three times a day he disappeared for a short while and came back to his seat with his face washed and his hair brushed and a general air of being refreshed. Every now and then a box of wafers added a note of sweetness to the long journey, and altogether Preston had a really enjoyable trip.

But not so those poor little Bruce children. The mother had a headache, the father had a grouch. Not a game nor a book was in sight in their section, and before the first day was over little Brother was whining and Eva and Nellie were restless and weary. No effort was made to keep them clean and fresh and they were frankly miserable.

Toward the end of the second day they were lying down on the seats, apparently ill. They had had nothing to divert their minds from the discomfort of a jolting train that went sweeping around curves or bouncing in and out of stations. On the other hand, the illness of their mother and the disapproving silence of their father added to their mental depression and naturally affected the condition of their bodies.

Candy and cold drinks bought on the train did not help them any, and altogether the Bruces had a thoroughly unhappy time.

I sat in the car with the Ropers and on my way to and from the diner I passed the Bruce family several times. Every time I saw them their condition seemed to be more hopeless than before. I wondered why on earth that mother had not provided some means of entertaining these children on their long trip. The girls seemed to be well-behaved, patient little ladies who would have responded joyously to any suggestions for their comfort.

It is so easy to take along a game or two that children like to play. It may be tiresome to entertain them, but it is more pleasant than hearing them complain. The simple matter of washing off the dust occasionally refreshes them. Train sickness is largely due to the mental attitude and can be alleviated, if not prevented, by amusement and cheerfulness.

These children had heard their mother say repeatedly, "The train always makes me sick," until it actually affected their own heads and stomachs. Suggestion! Suggestion! Suggestion!

In every situation where children are concerned, its possibilities are amazing—and the easiest thing in the world is suggestion.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

WHEN night's dark shadows creep away they take doubt's mists of pain, and with the glow of dawning day all gladness wakes again. The gladness of the waxing light that touches drab to rose and with its fuller, clearer gleam Earth's fuller beauty shows; the gladness of the meadow-larks that fill the air with song, these joys with others dearer still to morn's fair train belong. And best of all the joy of toil, of work for head and hand, that waits when dawn's bright banners fly above the sea and land; the joy of knowing Earth has need of each man's share of toil to make a canvas glow with life or till the stubborn soil. Though other joys may brighten life and bless each hour that flies, the man who has his work to do has tasted Paradise.

ATTERBURY IS MUM ON PENN. DIVIDEND

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

W. W. Atterbury

President W. W. Atterbury, when questioned was mum about whether or not the $3 dividend on Pennsylvania Railroad would be increased. It had been rumored in Wall and State Streets that an increase was likely. All President Atterbury would say was that the question of a dividend advance lay with the directors. He went so far, however, as to say earnings for the first six months of the current year would show more than $9,000,000 ahead of those of the previous year.

This does not necessarily support the story that an advance in dividends on Pennsylvania, so largely held by New England investors, is reasonably to be expected. Standard Statistics, at about the same time as Mr. Atterbury made his statement, issued an analysis showing that not a single company whose shares are listed in the New York Stock Exchange reported net operating income in 1925 in excess of 6 per cent. on its claimed valuation. In fact only seven companies reported 1925 net operating income to be in excess of 5 per cent. on such valuations. These, in the order of highest return, were: New York Central lines, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Bangor & Aroostook, St. Louis-San Francisco.

There has been a great deal of talk, for many years, about "Lo, the poor Indian." Many sentimental tears have been wept over the injustices, alleged and otherwise, suffered by our red skin brothers. The fact is that some of them are not very unfortunate, at least from a financial standpoint. In Oklahoma and vicinity the "poor Indians" are enjoying the royalties from oil found on their land, and the flood of golden wealth runs into many millions of dollars. There are a number of Indian multi-millionaires. Some of these wards of the government are naturally the target for unprincipled persons, but they are not picked because of the color of their skins.

A State street broker points out to the writer that the Indians of Massachusetts, Maine and the rest of New England, are in most cases, frugal, hard-working citizens, entirely deserving of any man's respect. They do not need the guardianship of the government.

* * *

Down in Florida, he says, there is still another type of Indian, who bids fair to be the victim of serious injustices unless the government acts in his behalf. Reference is made to the Seminole Indians. At one time their number was reduced to about 200, but now there is said to be about 600 of them. They are of a high physical and mental type. They have a good reputation for honesty and are devoted to their families. Down in the Everglades they know every twist and turn and no Indian is lost in the great swamps. Now, as time goes by, the white settler and the white speculator are encroaching on the hunting grounds of these red men, and crowding them farther and farther back into the depths of the Everglades. The government has dug enormous canals through Lake Okeechobee. These canals are for purposes of drainage. Others are in process of being built, while the Indians are pushed on toward the almost impenetrable cypress swamps.

A little of the worry and study now being devoted to the situation of the Indian in Oklahoma and environs might well be diverted to include the worthy Seminole.

sary in steel plants. That great mountain of iron near Mexico City, or cheap, high grade iron ore, brought through the canal from Cuba, and combined with the abundant, cheap electric power of the coast, would compete advantageously with Pittsburgh and Gary.

STEEL MEN know that their industry is still primitive. They are not as self-satisfied as Britishers at the convention of steel men, who voted to erase from their records a certain proposition, that they might not be made ridiculous. What they erased was a proposition to make steel by the Bessemer process.

Electricity may do for steel production more than was done by that Bessemer process.

JUDGE BROTHERS, of Chicago, says no man should be allowed more than two divorces. The first you might excuse, the second proves a man unfit to select a life mate.

THE DIVORCE seeker will object to that. In our OTHER National game a man is not out until he has had three strikes. Also, the good proverb says, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again." Either you believe that marriages are made in heaven, and no divorce can be legal, or you admit that marriage is like other human enterprises, full of imperfections, with the right of each to keep on trying while he lives.

HENRY AND Edsel Ford's new flying machine, built in their new factory, will be ready in August, and represent a long step in aviation. Their plane, with three engines of 600 horsepower, will be as nearly danger proof as is possible now.

With one of the three engines "dead," the plane can continue its journey. If two engines stop, which would happen rarely, the pilot could still travel twenty to thirty miles, depending on his altitude, in search of a safe landing place.

EACH PLANE will carry eight swivel chairs for passengers, and the new Ford plane should make an ideal carrier for about eight of our swivel chair airplane authorities that have held back aviation in this country.

J. L. GARVIN, in the London Observer, says Henry Ford killed the Karl Marx theories when he (Ford) established five dollars a day as a minimum wage. Marx built up his theories from deep looks in the British Museum. Ford built his plan in a factory, studying men.

FIVE DOLLARS a day that you really GET, or six dollars, the resent Ford minimum, is better than any theory telling how to get the $5 or $6 a day BY AND BY.

But no real problem is solved by a $6 wage. That is only one step toward decent living, and $6 is far from enough.

IT SOUNDS like anarchy, Bolshevism and blasphemy to say it, but as general American prosperity has increased since wages were raised from $1 to $5, so it would improve in proportion if they were raised, as they will be in time, from $5 to $25 a day.

Years hence $125 for a five-day week will not seem strange.

But wages do not settle everything. Men want the incentive of being in business for THEMSELVES, the excitement of making more when they do better work. They want freedom from monotony, and they want VARIETY IN OCCUPATION.

FORD KNOWS it, and plans at least variety. He wants farmers to do factory work in Winter, taking the work to them; also he plans to cut their agricultural year to a few weeks of actual work, with the help of machinery.

IT WOULD make conservative capital shudder if it could foresee the size of wages in the future and the luxury of the average man. The man above the average will, of course, get more in proportion.

THE GOVERNMENT arsenal at Lake Denmark, in New Jersey was destroyed with loss of life, and the fact that lightning caused the explosions is taken as sufficient explanation of the disaster. But IS it sufficient? What experts has the Government recently employed to deal with the lightning danger that kills so many, menacing every arsenal, powder plant and oil tank in the country?

LIGHTNING IS electricity from upper atmosphere, on its way to enter the earth. It is not a malicious power used by Divine Providence to punish, as once was thought. It is power running wild.

Franklin suggested a way to control it with his lightning rods, and many barns and houses were decorated by such rods in the old days. Has any systematic effort been made by government scientists, or others, to direct the descending electricity into a safe channel?

WOULD IT have been possible to prevent that Lake Denmark disaster with a series of copper wires extending into the air above the arsenal, and running down to wet ground?

Men know how to conduct thousands of electric horsepower from Niagara to distant cities. Would it be impossible to arrange safe lightning conductors, if the government took the danger seriously?

THE MORE you cut prices, if you do it wisely, the more you make. That applies to Uncle Sam in his tax collecting. The President and Mr. Mellon slashed income taxes, cutting half from the maximum percentage collectable, and "grave lack of revenue" was predicted.

At the lower tax rate, the government's receipts for this year have increased by $251,972,613. Income tax yielded $1,972,798,839, of which New York State paid one-quarter.

This nation ought to have a flying machine fleet to protect its mountain of money. The other day a distinguished financier, bragging patriotically about this nation, said, "We have the gold, copper, steel and crops." That sounds well. But Persia could have said all that just before Alexander came along with 30,000 men, brains, and a NEW WAY OF FIGHTING.

OVER MILLION DOPE ADDICTS IN U. S.

Hobson Warns of Spread of Evil; Heroin Users Recruit Others

Alarming spread of the dope evil in the United States is revealed in the accompanying article prepared for the Hearst papers by Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, secretary-general of the First World Conference on Narcotic Education, which has been in session in Philadelphia. Captain Hobson presents startling figures on the growing drug menace, outlines the plans of the conference to combat it and also charges that powerful opposition is aligned against the educative program of the world organization.

By CAPTAIN R. P. HOBSON,
Secretary-General World Conference on Narcotic Education.

Until about fifteen years ago drug addiction in America was advancing slowly. In 1910 the drug heroin appeared, first in the practice of medicine, then in the field of exploitation. As a result the problem of narcotic addiction took on a new an alarming form.

The reports of the narcotic division of the treasury department show this. The number of cases of violations in 1917 were 1,060, while in 1919 there were 2,432; in 1921 there were 4,300, in 1923, 7,700; in 1925, 10,297. This steady increase tells a dangerous tale.

1,000,000 ADDICTS IN U. S.

Recently the United States assistant district attorney-general, before a committee of Congress, stated that 40 per cent. of all convictions in Federal courts are narcotic cases, and that the number is increasing. In 1919 the report of the treasury department of a survey made under a joint committee concludes with these words:

"The committee is of the opinion that the total number of addicts in this country probably exceeds one million at the present time."

Commissioner of Corrections Frederick A. Wallis of New York city, has reported, from the results of a survey, that 60 per cent. of all inmates of correctional institutions of that city are either addicts or are connected with narcotics.

The chief of the bureau of criminal identification of the police department of New York city estimates the total number of addicts in the underworld of that city as approaching 200,000.

Captain Scherb, head of the narcotic squad of the New York police department, and Inspector Carey, in charge of the homicide bureau, estimate that 50 per cent. of those appearing in police lineup every morning are addicts.

Chief Magistrate McAdoo of New York City, estimates that 99 per cent. of all addicts passed through the courts are heroin addicts. The almost incredible growth of heroin addiction bears out the conclusions of eminent psychologists, that the heroin addict has a mania for recruiting others and automatically becomes a recruiting agent, building up a gang.

WHOLE WORLD INVOLVED.

Recognition of the magnitude of this problem caused the founding in 1921 of the International Narcotic Education Association and the calling by that association in 1926 of the first world conference on narcotic education, now meeting in Philadelphia. Advices indicate that heroin addiction is breaking out now in the capitals of Europe and has reached the Orient. The whole world is involved and the foundations of society are being shaken.

I have observed that those advocating hospitalization, those advocating narcotic laws, offer but little opposition; but the moment effort is directed toward education, the most determined opposition appears.

The outward expression of this organized concealed opposition has come through the bureau of the public health service or the treasury department, which has appeared in opposition to both measures sought in Congress by the International Narcotic Education Association, year before last, and by those directing the world conference this year.

CREDIT FOR SPECTACLE GOES TO KOLLINS

A veritable dynamo of human energy is Stuart Kollins, the unassuming individual responsible in a major sense for many of the spectacular features that make up the spectacle, "America," now being presented nightly at Braves Field.

HUSBAND-LIAR CONTEST IS NEAR END

"You're not a day over thirty, my dear."

"You're looking thinner."

"I don't see what men see in drinking. I never touch the stuff."

Here are samples of the lies men tell women, according to letter received by the Ananias Editor in the Boston Evening American's contest to determine "what New England Men Lie Most About." The contest is open to all New England women. A $15 cash prize will be awarded for the best letter, $5 for the second best, and $5, for the letter adjudged the third best.

Hurry, if you want to get your letter in before the contest closes. No letter will be received after 6 o'clock next Friday night, July 16.

The men tell more lies today than they ever told before, according to a Sherborne woman, who holds that the motor car has ruined the veracity of the male.

A majority of the women think that men lie most about their affairs of the heart. What is your opinion? Write your letter now so you can be sure it will receive attention. Mail it to the Ananias Editor, care of the Boston Evening American. You may be the winner of that $15 prize. But hurry!

U. S. Losing Its Taste for Beer; Chaser Now

New York, July 12.—Now comes Herr Karl Freund, official thirst quencher of steamship Reliance, and deposes that Americans are losing their taste for beer.

Boston Airport

EVERY Bostonian Is in Favor of Making It the Best in All the World

Mayor Nichols was to submit to the City Council today an order calling for the appropriation of $10,000, for the grading, filling and resurfacing of the landing field at the Boston Airport.

Before you have read these lines, perhaps, the Council will have passed the order.

The fact that the field is the property of the Commonwealth is of no material moment. Throughout the United States, all over the world, in fact, this is BOSTON'S airport and Boston's will be the glory that comes from making it the best there is. The amount asked for is small; the returns will be certain and magnificent.

Proper development of the field in East Boston is vital, as His Honor the Mayor has urged, to the commercial and industrial development of the Port of Boston. There are patriotic reasons for the appropriation no less sound and no less appealing. The gentlemen of the Boston City Council could not be deaf to them.

Question of Authority

Where the Town Meeting Thrives, Life Is Real, Life Is Earnest

If you want to get all there is out of a local issue, nurse it, enjoy it, line up the boys on it, you'll have to go to some town smaller than Boston, where no one appears to be very much fussed even when the City Council declines to consider in July the very serious question of snow removal, because there isn't any snow—in July.

The place where an issue like that, now, would be appreciated, is East Jaffrey, N. H., a few miles north of our own Winchendon, where the folks are tremendously agitated because the Park Commissioners have resigned in a body following a dispute with the headmaster of the high school.

The Park Commissioners thought the high school baseball team should pay for the use of Humiston Park, as they always had paid until this year, pointing out that the school has a healthy athletic fund and that no "town meeting" had voted to give the boys the free use of the playground.

Mr. Schoolmaster, who has gone away on his vacation, waves this argument aside as ridiculous. He takes the position that the park belongs to the town, the school belongs to the town, and there you are.

East Jaffrey, in the shadow of Monadnock, was incorporated in 1773. History says the villagers heard the cannonading at Bunker Hill. Their only great excitement since that time came with the murder of Dr. Dean, eight years ago, a mystery to this day. They are a fine upstanding people and their town, growing a little in population with every census-taking, is one of the beauty spots of New England. They'll discuss the late Park Commission, the nine, the schoolmaster and the "see-lect-men" for the next eight months, and next March you'll "see something."

Lawyers

When They Are Good They Are Very Good, Indeed

If Mr. Barnes Newberry's colleagues on the Rhode Island Board of Parole prove to be in agreement with him it will not be long now before notices are posted in the cells of the State Prison and the Providence County Jail admonishing all who expect paroles to "keep away from attorneys."

"Do Not Hire a Lawyer," the warning will read, in effect, "Your Chance of a Parole Will Be at Least as Good, and Maybe Better, Without One."

There is one man in the penitentiary at Howard, according to Mr. Newberry, who has told the Board that four years ago he paid a certain lawyer $500 for a "pardon." He still is waiting for it. The belief appears to be GENERAL among the prisoners that the way to get out is to employ "influential" counsel, able to pull the proper strings.

"We want to protect the prisoners," Mr. Newberry says, "and when it is known where our Board stands time and money will be saved by all concerned. The prisoner who merely signs his name to an application blank has just as good, and sometimes a better chance, of obtaining parole than the prisoner who engages a score of attorneys. In almost every parole case an attorney is helpless to do anything that would influence the Board's decision. Every inmate at Howard should know it."

It was the testimony a month or two ago of Felix Rackemann, Esq., for two score years a distinguished practitioner at the Bar of Massachusetts, that there has been a decided change, and that not for the better, in the type of attorney practising before the local courts.

Judging by the situation described by Mr. Barnes Newberry they have "smart" young barristers in Rhode Island, too.

But is it not someone's duty to show up the Smart Alexander who four years ago took $500 from a prisoner at Howard, to "get him out," and who has failed to deliver?

Electricity, the Restorer

It Will Pay the World's Debts

The electric age, just starting, will wipe out the debts of this last great war, as the steam age saved Europe after Waterloo.

Production of electrical power in gigantic units will make this nation rich beyond the dreams of today's petty millionaires and billionaires.

In the first six months of this year the United States produced more than 24,000,000 tons of steel, a record-breaking output.

Prosperity hasn't really started, and our troubles exist only in the minds of the timid.

TAX

CONDITIONS HARD FOR ALL HEROES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

DISPATCHES from Paris, printed in various American papers, state that the sheriff descended upon the house of one Georges Clemenceau and seized one of the fiery old "Tiger's" chairs for failure to pay taxes.

Parisian editorial writers ask in varying degrees of asperity if this is the way to treat heroes.

The answer seems to be that it is.

At least it is the way they are generally treated.

Nations are notably lax in their expression of appreciation to their saviors, while those saviors live.

All along the line in the days of peace after the nation has been saved the hero spends much of his time in petty squabbling.

The truth is that a hero is an uncomfortable sort of a person to have around in ordinary times.

In Shaw's play, "Saint Joan," the author points out that both the captain she had made and the king she had crowned were not far away when Joan was kept prisoner by the British. They could have rescued her if they had tried.

But, the author indicates, they were a little glad to get rid of her.

A person who hears voices is all right for a crisis, but rather uncomfortable to have around in normal times.

Often the qualities demanded by a crisis are entirely different from the ones of value in times of uneventful peace. Thus the hero has a chance to demonstrate his heroism only under certain conditions and his appreciation depends upon the conditions of the time as well as the character of the man.

Although Patrick Henry was the man of the hour when he stirred his countrymen to action with his "Give me liberty or give me death" speech, he would not have made a good President after the conflict was over.

The two places demanded different characteristics.

Patrick Henry struck the spark at the right moment and was a hero in his place. In another place he might not have been a success at all.

The reason heroes are apparently not appreciated while they live is often because they are placed under conditions where the qualities which made them heroes in the crisis are not as much in demand as other qualities which they may lack.

After they are dead they are remembered only in connection with a background where their characteristics fitted in.

WHEN A MAN FORGETS HIS PERSONAL APPEARANCE

The wise wife is not too keen about persuading her husband to dress after the style of a fashion plate.

Men who have a family for which to provide often have little time to look up matters of style in dress.

The earnest worker does not want to be so well dressed that he is uncomfortable in doing his work.

Men don't want to be hampered by thoughts that they are liable to ruin a good suit in the pursuit of daily toil.

Women are prone to think that their husbands are too much engrossed in business to pay attention to personal appearance; but if they could get the idea that it is because of anxiety to provide better for their children that less time is given to personal appearance they would say less of it.

Men want their wives and children to look prosperous and happy.

And many of them are sacrificing their own appearance for that reason.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

TRIED to get JMKC last night and couldn't make it, could you? Too much static. Sounded as if the air was staging a riot.

Funny thing about static. Sometimes you can get almost any station clear as a bell. Sound as if they were in the next room. Wonderful, when it's like that. Makes the earth seem to shrink, while you grow bigger and bigger until you're reaching out and holding everything in your arms. And then again, you can't get through. Everything all smoked up with ends of sound and vibration. Throws you back in on yourself. Shuts all the other fellows away from you. Makes you sore, doesn't it, Pal?

Static—queer little word, but what a lot it can teach us if we'll listen.

You didn't know there was such a word until you got your radio, did you? Yet you've been bumping up against static all your life.

Take the superintendent down at our shop. Nice fellow, isn't he? Wonderful the amount of work he can get out of the men. Why, when he's in the right mood he's a human dynamo. Everyone in the whole place feels pepped up. The day just zooms along. But at other times there'll be something wrong. You won't be able to put your finger on it, but every man in the place can feel it. He doesn't act differently. Doesn't look different. Yet everything drags. Everyone is on edge. The work output is cut down half.

What's the matter? STATIC.

Personal Static

You, yourself, go through the same experience, don't you? Those moody spells of yours—queer how they come on you. One day you'll be feeling like licking your weight in wild cats. And the next day you'll be way far down in the dumps. Nothing will interest you. Everything you touch will go wrong. No snap. No pep. Sick? There doesn't seem to be any pain. Yet you feel as if you'd been dragged through a knot hole. And you make every one who comes near you feel the same way. Ordinarily you're a friendly sort of cuss. Like to gossip with people, willing to take their advice, laugh over the least little joke. But when one of these moods come on you're just about as sociable as a tiger with a toothache. Funny, isn't it?

What's the matter? STATIC.

"What do you mean by static?" you ask. "I can understand radio static all right, but human static—that's a queer one. Air static—that's just a jumble of sounds and air currents — wave lengths all getting tangled up—atmospheric, I suppose. But human static? — Humans haven't wave lengths. How can they get static?"

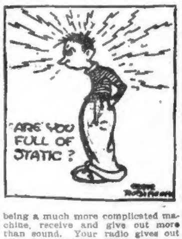
Guess again, Pal. Wave lengths are the best things humans have.

You say you can "understand radio static," but you can't. We've learned that there are such things as sound waves and we've made boxes and transmit them to us. But the wisest man on earth doesn't know the nature of the electricity which produces those wave lengths or the static which tangles them. We only know dimly that we are dealing with vibrations, and that, at times, something confuses these vibrations and produces that which we call static.

Life Vibrates

Every one who knows radio knows that. But vibrations aren't confined to radios. The scientists tell us that ALL life vibrates. Everything is in vibration. YOU are in vibration as well as your radio.

That same mysterious force of electricity which operates through your little crystal set, also operates through YOU. Your radio is one kind of receiving set. YOU are another. You both receive, and you both give out vibrations. Your radio receives and gives out vibrations which make sound. But you, being a much more complicated machine, receive and give out more than sound. Your radio gives out vibrations which strike on the ear. But you receive and give out vibrations which are recorded on the mind and emotions. AND WHEN TOO MANY CURRENTS BECOME CONFUSED, STATIC RESULTS IN BOTH YOU AND THE RADIO.



"ARE YOU FULL OF STATIC?"

Human static arises from many sources, most of them as yet veiled in mystery. It arises from physical sources—just as your radio arises from mechanical causes. The human box may be sick as well as the radio box. It arises from mental and spiritual sources. Hate, fear, greed, laziness, these things cause human static—they interfere with the clear vibrations of love and courage and hope. They interfere with your life when you create them within yourself, and they just as surely interfere when they are created by some one else. That's why a tangled mind can spread entanglement through an ever-widening circle.

Think of that next time you start to brew a little static in your dome.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

So near is falsehood to truth that a wise man would do well not to trust himself on the narrow edge.
—Cicero.

The moderation of fortunate people comes from the calm which good fortune gives to their tempers.
—La Rochefoucauld.

Men's minds are as variant as their faces. Where the motives of their actions are pure, the operation of the former is no more to be imputed to them as a crime, than the appearance of the latter; for both, being the work of nature, are alike unavoidable.
—Washington.

RAIN PRODIGIES AND SOME SUPERSTITIONS

By Garrett P. Serviss

We were talking about rainstorms, and I said I have seen little hoptoads come down with the rain, and he said it was not so. Could you please let me know so I can show him that I was rght?—J. T. R.

I AM afraid that I cannot show him that you were certainly right. Yet you have popular mythology strongly on your side.

All over the world, wherever frogs and toads are known and gossips talk, for hundreds of years the substance of your story has been repeated and believed. In only one respect do naturalists and meteorologists, whose special business it is to study and learn about such things, support you.

They know that waterspouts and cyclonic whirlwinds sometimes scoop up the contents of ponds and brooks, together with everything that they contain, including occasionally even pebbles, and carry them high into the air, to be subsequently scattered widely over the country.

In such cases small frogs, toads and fishes may be borne so far away before they are dropped that they seem to have come out of the sky.

Myriads of Toads

There is another way in which scientific inquiry into this old legend has led to an explanation of the sudden appearance of little toads or frogs swarming over the ground after a sudden rain. That is simply that the little animals were there on the ground already, before the rain, concealed in the dust and dry vegetation, which they closely resemble, and were suddenly aroused and stimulated to activity by the unexpected downpour.

Porta, Italian scientist, reports the seeing of this very phenomenon, which is so sudden and surprising that an observer who did not pay close attention to all details might well believe that the little animals had come down with the rain.

Naturalists also know that toads, all kinds of which breed in water, often hatch out many broods simultaneously, so that myriads of them make their appearance, hopping over the ground with astonishing suddenness.

More impressive than the showers of toads, frogs, fish and insects occasionally reported, are the "blood rains" that in former times caused widespread terror, and which when witnessed even in these days awaken superstitious dread.

European annals are full of stories of these rains, and it has been alleged that formerly they were sometimes utilized by either ignorant or unscrupulous persons to excite religious fears and zeal.

These startling phenomena are unquestionably due to the presence in the atmosphere of colored dust, volcanic ash, pollen of plants and other powdery impurities, which have been uplifted and widely distributed by the winds, and being dissolved in raindrops often produce a close imitation of the color of blood.

Stories of them are as ancient as the times of Homer. In Italy, where such phenomena have been often reported, it is related that superstitious persons sometimes cast aside in horror garments that have been spotted by "bloody rain."

YELLOWISH DUST.

Yet, from early times many thoughtful and observant persons were aware of the causes of the deceptive appearance of such rains. Thus in 1774, the year of "the six-tailed comet," there was great excitement over a blood rain at Genoa, but it was soon found that the water had been colored by clouds of red dust that had been blown from one of the mountainous heights over the city.

Red or yellowish dust raised by whirlwinds from rainless deserts and carried afar by air currents has often served to stain rainfalls in lands hundreds of miles distant.

Many of these old beliefs live over into more enlightened times, partly because there is in human nature an inborn cult of the mysterious, which induces even educated people to find pleasure in giving at least a temporary preference to a mystical power over a rational interpretation of any uncommon phenomenon.

'You Said It, Marceline!'

By MARCELINE D'ALROY

ON "THE MOST FASCINATING AGE"

SOME WOMEN love MEN,
But SOME girls love
MEN to LOVE them.
This is DIFFERENT.
The FIRST is POSITIVE,
The second MAY BE
NEGATIVE. But then,
Again, it MAY
NOT. A Young and
PRETTY GIRL DEMANDS
MORE ADMIRATION
FROM MEN than a
SOPHISTICATED WOMAN,
And USUALLY she GETS IT.

WHAT A SMART
WOMAN WANTS is
NOT admiration but
APPRECIATION, and if
She is CLEVER, she gets
FAR MORE of that than ANY young girl
IS AWARE OF.
ACTUALLY what keeps
Women GOING STRONG,
Is the belief that THEIR PARTICULAR AGE is the Most FASCINATING to
MEN. SO IT IS—
If they pick THE RIGHT MAN!
